When Business is Good

SATURDAY night is a mighty good time to ask yourself this question: "Is our community sending more money out of town than is coming in each week?" Of course the only safe answer is "NO!"

This means that we folks in this neighborhood must patronize local supply men and merchants if we expect our town to prosper and "stay on the map."

Frankly, it means that every citizen will find it most profitable to read the advertisements in this paper every issue, and to follow their good advice.

Our advertisers are all personally interested in this town—and in YOU. They are helping you build a better home community. When business is good, their profits are being shared with you in an endless chain of co-operative betterment.

POLICE NOTES

Quit your kicking, pull together. "Peggy" Lewis was before Judge Reasoner on a charge of being drunk and disorderly in a public cafe, and was fined $75.

E. Short was brought into court for being intoxicated and was fined $50.

R. Hill celebrated the Fourth on the Third and was before Judge Reasoner for being drunk and was fined $25, it being his first offense.

C. Staples was picked up by Chief Kelly for transporting "moon" and was before Judge Weed, who fined him $200 and 30 days in the county jail.

Negligees Combine Two Kinds of Silk

This is the day of colorful printed fabrics. They appear in all kinds of goods, from sturdy cottons to filmy chiffons, and are used for all kinds of apparel, from house dresses to evening gowns. Pretty as they are, they are at their best when made up with plain fabrics—and thereby hangs a tale of thrift and pleasure. For resourceful home dressmakers are managing to combine two discarded garments into one, that proves constantly useful. Instead of hanging in a dark closet, to blush unseen, the gay flowers that deck a printed frock, that is passe, see the light once more. Combined with plain material, the two are converted into a charming negligee, or even perhaps into a combination frock.

Printed silk and plain crepe make the graceful negligee pictured, in which a flounce of the crepe is bordered with bands of the printed silk and set on to a three-quarter-length kimono. Crepe borders the sleeves and provides the back of the collar and the ties that fasten the side closing. Simple, graceful, easy to make and very useful, this negligee has everything to recommend it, so why not make one negligee grow where two old frocks did nothing before?

DR. WALTER N. KOELZ

Dr. Walter N. Koelz of Ann Arbor is accompanying the MacMillan expedition to the arctic as its fish expert.

Those Vernonia people who pine for the good old days never pursued a mule and a double-shovel up and down corn rows all day for fifty cents and their dinner.

Real Battle Scene in Riffian War

Only recently have news photographers been permitted to take photographs of the battles in the French-Riff war in Morocco. This one shows men of the Foreign Legion shooting from a field of maize. Inserted is a portrait of their commander, Colonel Freydenberg, who won the battle of Astar.
