nate and later suffers to have her child taken away from her.

On Monday night next they have booked "The Outlaw's Daughter." You will think you are in Pendleton attending the round-up when you see her on the bucking broncs. It is a truly Western story and a wild west at that.

On Tuesday and Wednesday night, "Wild Fire." One picture you have waited long to see. Aileen Pringle is at her best in this play. It is the greatest racing drama ever written. It is a thoroughbred and one of those stories that one will long think about and remember. A show a Vernonia audience will appreciate.

Next Thursday and Friday nights will be favorites. Here will be offered the greatest thrill scene in the history of picture making. The play is the "Halfway Girl." It is a thrill show full of drama and action and one of the very best. This is a picture show that the big daily papers have talked about and it is truly wonderful. It is good advice to see this show.

girl did not arrive at school following the noon recess, and it was learned that she and Kennedy had left in a small auto.

Hatton traced the eloping couple to Timber, but there lost sight of them. He has appealed to police. Thursday's Oregonian.

Fifty young people of the Girl Reserve and Boy Scout classes of the Christian Sunday school enjoyed last Friday evening in a trip to Portland to hear Billy Sunday. The boys lost in a contest and the forfeit being a party, they decided to make this one a little different. Friday evening was a special meeting for young people and the high schools of Portland were all represented. School songs and yells were an enthusiastic greeting to the evangelist who came back with a wonderful sermon. The evening was one that stays in the memory. The girls sandwiches were fine, but they didn't know that the boys wore elastic belts.

The boys and girls wish to thank the following for their cars which made this trip possible: George Hankel, R. D. Coates, J. H. Bush, Dr. J. A. Hughes, Mrs. W. Coyle, Donald Brady, C. C. Calendine, Dr. M. D. Cole and H. H. Hixon with A. W. John driving.

The organization of the Boy Scout troop for Vernonia came to a reality Wednesday night, Sept. 23 when Mr. Austin was elected Scoutmaster, Mr. Conklin, assistant scoutmaster, senior patrol leader, Clarence Wardle, patrol leader, Neal Bush, Glenn Heber and Rodney Esselstyn, scribe, Dwight Strong.

The following members were enrolled: Junior Bennett, Neal Bush, Harold Carrick, William Culver,

MOVIE NEWS AND COMMENT OF LOCAL FEATURES

The Majestic theatre seems to be trying itself for the coming weeks entertainment. Every night promises to be good with some better than others, depending on what variety you are extra fond of. For this Saturday night there is a great Broadway hit in a side-splitting screen comedy with Richard Barthelmess in "Shore Leave." It is a picture full of action with seas that are rough and shores still rougher. A little romance all the way through and fun all the time. A picture that always draws the crowds

For the coming Sunday night the offering is of a different character entirely. It will be a drama of romance, love, homes and tragedy. Conway Tearle and Claire Windsor are the headliners in "Just a Woman" in the mother and child scenes even the hard boiled studio crew was compelled to look away and gulp, and when that happens one can be sure that the scene is a touching one. Miss Windsor, it may be explained, comes by her heart-wringing abilities honestly. She is in real life the mother of a little boy and knows what mother love and the accompanying heartaches are. In "Just a Woman" she is seen as Jane Holton, wife of a steel mills foreman, who raises her husband from servitude to the position of steel mag-
