Evidently there is a man in Vernonia who needs care. Demented in some way that makes him do unaccountable things, that he no doubt would not do were he in his right mind. It may develop to the point where a few volunteers are night watchmen will patrol various sections of the city with a lookout for late prowlers. One night last week some one with nails in their shoes broke in one of the school houses and marred all the new desks.

Mr. Petersen had a splendid stock of the best obtainable in every line. The Petersen family is popular and well liked by all Vernonia, who would dislike to see them leave our city. Mr. Petersen is as yet undecided as to his future—the immediate time to be taken up with his interests in southern Oregon mining.
