MOVIE NEWS AND COMMENT OF LOCAL FEATURES

As the longer evenings approach pastime will be more in demand, and someplace to go worth while will be looked for and appreciated. The theatre of today is both entertaining and instructive—most good pictures Manager Bush of the Majestic very seldom falls down in his choice of good pictures. A good program is ahead of us. For this Saturday night we read of his attraction entitled "Bobbed Hair." Very popular title as far as the women are concerned. The advance sheets speak flattering of the picture. It is claimed to be the most amazing story of the year. A story strong in romance and adventure, a story of love and excitement, of sensation and occasionally lots of fun. Marie Provost is always good and in Bobbed Hair she is right at home. You will want to see the picture Saturday night.

Sunday night seats will be hard to find, we predict, because Bebe Daniels is coming in "Wild, Wild, Susan." Everybody loves Frisky, reckless dashing Bebe Daniels and in this production she is wilder than ever. Wonder she don't get killed. You might fall out of your seats in the laughs that will continue with you throughout the entire play. It is a comedy taken from the Liberty magazine. Speed, romance, pep, thrills and zip. That is for Sunday night.

Monday night it is "Bustin' Through" with Jack Hoxie. Another good western picture that so many Vernonia people like. Jack Hoxie is a favorite. In the thrills of the new west is mixed romance. It is for one night only.

For Tuesday and Wednesday nights is that big production "Lorraine of the Lions" It is pronounced grand, better than some of the stories of Tarzan of the Apes. And here is more good news, the star is Patsy Ruth Miller. The story, a love story, is the strangest and most fascinating ever written. You will say truly this is the sensation of the age picture. The South Sea Islands play a big part in the picture with the wildest of jungle boasts. A picture that cannot be described, it must be seen to be appreciated.

Thursday and Friday a brand new picture recently completed in Canada. Milton Sills in "The Knockout." Milton Sills has always been a favorite with local motion picture goers but in no type of picture is he better enjoyed than in screen plays which give him an opportunity to demonstrate his "bemanism." His work in "The Sea Hawk," "As Men Desire," and in "The Making of O'Malley" have indelibly planted pleasing memories in the minds of his fans and the success of these pictures proves that he is east to suit them when appearing in virile, outdoor roles. No better role could have been found for the famous portrayer of screen virility than his part in "The Knockout"—that of a "Gentleman Jim" type of prize fighter who goes into the Canadian woods to recuperate from injuries received in the ring and becomes the victim of the intrigue and machinations of a wealthy New Yorker who seeks to ruin the father of the yirl with whom he falls in love.

The rugged scenery of the north woods country forms a majestic setting for most of the action of the picture. Add to this action, romance, and comedy which kept the audience breathless one minute and in roars of laughter the next, and one has in a nutshell the recipe which was used to make this most welcome picture.

VALUABLE "DONT'S" FOR USERS OF ELECTRICITY

That users of electricity can help hold the number of avoidable accidents to the minimum is suggested by the Oregon Public Utility Information bureau, which lists the following "Dont's" as worth putting into practice:

Don't fool with bare wires, even at home. Results are likely to be shocking, if not fatal.

Don't leave the cord attached to the electric iron when not in use. If you want to see a house burn, go to the movies.

Don't use the electric vibrator in the bath tub, even though it probably would make future bathing unnecessary.

Don't hang lamp cords on nails. The nail will get the "juice" and your insurance may have lapsed.

Don't turn on an electric light when standing in a bath tub, if you wish to thrn on another anywhere.

Don't hang lamp bulbs against wood or cover them with paper or other inflammables. Confining them produces heat and heat produces fire.
