MOVIE NEWS AND COMMENT OF LOCAL FEATURES

The Majestic is sure improving—new seats that are as comfortable as a rocker, and now Mr. Bush announces that he is installing a new machine—the motiongraph reflector are—one of the best on the market today. Being late this week and shy on space, we will merely give you the program. Beginning this Saturday night. By noticing the list you can't help but see it will be one of the best programs possible for the pre-holiday season. This Saturday night we'll see Douglas McLean in "Going Up," and you'll laugh for two hours. On Sunday night is that top notcher, Rudolph Valentino in "Cobra." No comments necessary. On Monday night next the title proves the comedy of it in "Let's Gi Gallagher." Next Tuesday and Wednesday night is "The New Commandment," a show widely talked of from coast to coast. And Next Thursday and Friday nights we will be delighted with the favorite Reginald Denny in "Where Was I?" This is a roar and scream from start to finish.

CHRISTMAS PARTY GIVEN

One of the pretty events of the week, was the "at home" of Mrs. F. Hanson on Friday afternoon. Sounding the first note of the holiday season, the home was decorated in the Christmas colors for the occasion. Green fir boughs, red bow knots and Christmas bells being used to make a pretty setting. The program was in the Christmas spirit and thought.

The first number of the program consisted of small talks in which everyone participated and the singing "The End of a Perfect Day" by Mrs. Mauj Scott was given wonderful expression and much applauded. The next number a reading of a Christmas poem, savored of the comic and gave more than one side of the Christmas spirit. Mrs. D. L. Smith gave this reading which was very much appreciated. General discussion of the Christmas spirit followed and this was led by Mrs. Sarah Spencer and gave everyone a real thought of Christmas. "What is the Christmas spirit to me" was responded to Mrs. Sarah Spencer. Mrs. Judd Greenman and Mrs. W. A. Harris. This response was real and made one stop and think. "What is the Christmas Spirit to me?"

Following was the contest of poems in which Mrs. E. Z. Brown won first honors, and after that came the reading of "Maud Muller" this old, always, new poem of John Greenleaf Whittier was read in a very pretty natural way by Mrs. Ellis. The closing number on the program was the singing of "Silver Threads Among the Gold" by Mrs. Scott, was much appreciated. The refreshments consisted of punch and fruit cake and was in a very pretty manner.

This event was complimentary to Mrs. E. S. Cleveland.

Mrs. Hanson was assisted by Mrs. Gooding, Mrs. D. L. Smith and Mrs. Tipton.

The guests who graced the event were: Mesdames Cleveland, Spencer Seaman, Robinson, White, Whar-ton, Greenman, Harris, Martin, Rich, Spencer, Jr., Hoffman, Dr. Hall, Reithenr, Ellis, Marshall, Reason, Brown, McBaron, Kemper, Stitts, Green, Rames, Scott, Smith, Tipton, Gooding, Andrews, Oliver, Hanson, Jr., and Scott. Regrets were received from Mesdames, R. A. Space, S. U. Douglas, Black, Coyle and McNeill.
