

It is easy for a girl to find a husband. Her difficult problem is finding a single man.

Among the symptoms of love are a vacant feeling inside and an enlarged vocabulary.

A cynic is a man who doesn't realize just how much obliged he really should be for a living.

The man who buys the dress is willing for it to be shorter if she will only wear it longer.

Women have more trouble than men. A man's friends never criticize him for growing old.

LAST WORD.

An Irishman was sitting in a depot smoking, when a woman came in and, sitting down near him, said: "Sir, if you were a gentleman you would not smoke here."

"Mum," replied the Irishman, "if you wuz a lady you would sit further away."

Pretty soon the woman burst out again: "If you were my husband I'd give you poison."

"Well, mum," replied the Irishman, as he smoked away at his pipe, "if you wuz me wife, I'd take it."

As soon as we open in our new location we will have twin bread—two one-pound loaves for 15 cents. It will be made from the same dough and of the same high quality as our wrapped bread. Here is a chance for economy.—Vernonia Bakery.

J. M. Clark was standing on the cold pavement early Tuesday morning, with a smile from ear to ear. When asked why the extra show of pleasure, he informed us that he was a great-grand father, as a son had just been born to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Clark of Grants Pass. Roy is a grandson of Mr. Clark.

If you appreciate cleanliness in your foods, perhaps this will appeal to you. We have three men in our shop who do the baking and not one of them uses tobacco in any form. We insist on cleanliness not only in our baked goods, but in our shop and we want you to feel (and it is a fact,) that goods which you buy from us are just as clean as though made in your own kitchen.—Vernonia Bakery.—Adv.

SO IT IS—

A man is no better than his word. If he makes promises and breaks them, his neighbors will hold him in awe, and rightfully so. For it is the only gauge by which a man's moral standing can be measured.

So it is in business, an institution is no better than the service it deals out. It is our aim to constantly improve the service to our customers, and to grant every banking requisite that sound business ethics will permit.

Dance Hats Revel in Metallic Splendor

From the appearance of our mid-winter chapeaux, we are led to believe that the milliners surely must have found the promised pot of gold at the end of the rainbow trail. Glistening and gleaming with metallic splendor are the little gold-and-silver matinee and dance hats for the holiday season. Nor is this shimmering, scintillating beauty confined to the hat for festive occasion.

With our fur coats or our fur-trimmed cloth coats (fashion glories in either), we are wearing most becoming headgear conjured of glided leather embellished with stitcheery and applique of most colorful mien.

The hat at the top of this group has its gorgeous metallic handwork veiled with dusky brown malines. The center model is of silver and black velvet applique. A winged novelty of gold with silver is used on the attractive velvet and metal cloth shape shown last in this collection.
