AMERICAN LEGION
Vernonia Post 119
Legion Notes

The tried and worn contenance of Comrade Carlin will take on a new condition beginning tomorrow morning, April 1st. The membership drive will close. It does not mean, however, that Comrades should drop signing in new members like a red hot iron, but keep on doing their stuff. Come on up to the meeting and see for yourself just how many members there are and commence to wonder how it was done. Commander Folger was not just exactly pleased. He thought there should have been more and of course there was a few remarks of sublimed nature passed between them. They both have the art of passing them along in rapid fire method.

Comrades Zimmerman, Miller, Harp and Welden from Timber were at the meeting this week. Hope the boys can come up often. Every meeting is not too many.

We have obtained from the national headquarters, the motion picture "Havoc." It will be shown at the Majestic theatre April 5th, matinee and evening. This is a dynamic, dramatic story of a world caught in a maelstrom of hysteria. A woman without a soul, who leaves a trail of Havoc in her wake. The thrills of war, romance, deeds of valor, and excitement abound.

An oil painting has been presented to the Legion, showing the fighting pose and wonderful muscle development of our two fighters, namely Comrades "Speed" Grunden and "Snappy" Kullander. It was in memory of that evening, which will long be remembered, when those two veterans of the canvas battled for supremacy. We are indebted to Mr. H. Lloyd and thank him very much.

Mrs. E. M. Erickson returned home after spending five days in Hoquiam Wn., where she was called by the death of her sisters husband, who was killed on the 18th of March. Her sister had a very serious operation a month ago, and since the death of her sisters husband she is very low. Mrs. Erickson will return to Hoquiam in a few weeks.

THE SPRING CLEAN UP

By Dr. F. D. STRICKER
Sec'y State Board of Health
With Spring comes house cleaning. "Clean-up" campaigns are now in order. It is an excellent plan to have the streets, alleys and yards cleaned benefit of the clean-up will depend entirely upon the efforts of individuals to keep up the work during the entire year. To maintain healthy, sanitary condition either for the individual or the community does not require a great effort, but it does require a more or less continuous effort.

Cleanliness of person and premises is to a certain extent a protection against disease. A clean, healthy environment has a wholesome effect, while a dirty, unsanitary environment is degenerative in its effect—physically, mentally and morally—producing poor citizens. Anything which raises the standards of clean and healthy living will pay financially. There is nothing more expensive to the community than filth and disease.

A favorable sentiment toward better living and health has grown in this state until now there is in almost every community a clean-up spirit. An annual clean-up does not suffice any more for a clean city than a yearly bath would for a clean individual. Regular inspection of the milk and meat supplies, restaurants and soda fountains is necessary to insure safe and clean food. The street alleys and backyards should be kept clean by continuous effort and vigilance. In this way you will raise the standard of living in your community. Desirable citizens are attracted to live where the conditions are favorable to health and contentment.

All manure piles whether around houses, barns, hog pens or chicken yards should be removed at least twice a week, as they are the principal breeding places of the fly. Lime is one of the cheapest disinfectants for general use, and should be liberally used in the disinfection of manure grounds, garbage cans and the like. Precautions taken against flies now will save endless work and worry later on.

Take pride in the general appearance of your community and keep your own place continually cleaned up. Remember general cleanliness is an outward indication of sanitation. It is the best advertisement your community can have.

The Faith of Our Fathers.
In an address before the New England Society of New York in 1850, Daniel Webster said: "This has been a stormy, cold, boisterous and especially in the Spring, but the element day. The winds have been harsh, the skies have been severe; and if we had no shelter against this howling and freezing tempest if we were wan and worn out; if half of us were sick and tired, and ready to descend into the grave; if we were on the bleak coast of Plymouth, houseless, homeless, with nothing over our heads but the heavens, and that God who sits above the heavens; if we had distressed wives on our arms, and hungry and shivering children clinging to our skirts, we should see something, and feel something, of that scene, which in the Providence of God, was enacted at Plymouth on the 22nd of December, 1620.

"Thanks to the Almighty God, who from that distressed early condition of our fathers, has raised us to a height of prosperity and of happiness which they neither enjoyed, nor could have anticipated! We have learned much of them; they could have foreseen little of us. Would to God, my friends, that, when we carry our affections and our recollections back to that period we could arm ourselves with something of the stern virtues which supported them, in that hour of peril, and exposure and suffering! Would to God that we possessed that unconquerable resolution, stronger than bars of brass or iron, which strengthened their hearts that patience, 'sovereign o'er transmitted ill,' and, above all, that faith that religious faith, which with eyes fast fixed upon Heaven tramples all things earthly beneath her triumphant feet!"

Carelessness

I am not much of a mathematician," says Carelessness, "but I can add to your troubles, I can multiply your aches and pains, I can take interest from your work and discount your chances for safety. Besides this, I can divide your thought between business and pleasure and be a potent factor in your pleasure and a potent factor in your failures. Even if I am with you only a small fraction of the time, I can lessen your chances for success. I am a figure to be reckoned with. Cancel me from your habits and it will add to your total happiness.

One afternoon a stranger debarked from a train at a hustling town in the west and headed up the street. Finally he met a man who looked like a native.

"Pardon me," said the stranger, "are you a resident of this town?" "Yes, sir," was the ready rejoinder of the other. "I have been here something like 50 years. What can I do for you?"

"I am looking for a criminal lawyer," responded the stranger. "Have you one here?"

"Well," said the native, reflectively, "we think we have, but we can't prove it on him.—exchange.

An Atchison, Kansas, painter smelled smoke while riding in his motor car. He thought his car was on fire and began to call loudly. Someone sent in the alarm and as the fire department dashed up the painter discovered it was but his necktie burning.
