Red Cuthbert Raspberries
 After they are through with the picking of strawberries along comes the raspberries and we are in a position to contract a heavy acreage of these also. They should be of the Red Cuthbert variety and planted every three feet apart in the rows and seven feet between the rows. About 2000 plants will plant an acre.
Royal Anne Cherries
 While you are growing berries you can get an orchard of Royal Anne cherries started, growing them between the rows. There is always a good demand for them by the canner, and when planting same a good cherry to pollinize them is the Waterhouse cherry about two trees per acre.
Blackberries.
 The wild Evergreen Blackberry can be replanted to a good producer and a large return to the grower if placed on wire and posts.
Vegetables.
 Beans, beets and other vegetables are getting in demand and large contracts are signed up every year. With the growing of all such as Strawberries, Raspberries, Loganberries, Royal Anne cherries Blackberries and vegetables that the canner can use, and the offer of a five year contract on same by our company, the feature and development of Columbia county is in the making and in a few years will be known as one of the largest producing counties in our state, and now it is up to owners of a few acres of land to come and sign their contracts for planting in the fall of 1926.

Development of Col. Co.
 (By A. E. Allen)
 From time to time there has been a great many ways proposed for the development of this county, such as asking for appropriations large and small for clearing of logged off lands and getting the country in shape to produce as we all realize the rapid strides they are making in cutting off the timber and the revenue which comes from it will be less each year. Therefore it is up to the people of Columbia county to protect themselves from heavy taxes by putting every acre possible under cultivation of some sort, and the writer believes he can help solve the problem to a great extent and is in a position to do so, and will take up the different products that we are interested in and will make a ready market for same as follows:
Strawberries.
 In regard to strawberries there are a great many varieties grown at the present time in the county, most all are saleable but the varieties that are in demand are the following: For barreling, the Marshall and Improved Oregon; for canning, the Ettersburg 121, Wilson and Clark. If a grower will put in one to three acres for a start he will, the following year, be able to plant from his own stock as many acres as the market will demand.
 Columbia county has the finest land that can be found anywhere in the Northwest that will produce strawberries. Any logged off land with a southern slope will produce good strawberries. They should be good healthy plants and planted in rows three by three and one-half feet apart to get the best results and the right amount of cultivation and should produce upward to two tons per acre and net the grower no less than three to four hundred dollars per acre and as high as $500 per acre. All planting should be done in the fall for the best results, and good plants can be purchased anywhere in the county or through us. To make the above a success we are willing to contract with any grower for a term of five years and will take on, in any section or community in any part of the county, from 100 to 200 acres of strawberries to each section; and if the farmers are in earnest to clear up land and plant same as instructed above Columbia county will be one of the biggest berry producing counties in the state
