What I Have Gained (By Lea Enos)

One night when I attended one of the meetings at the new Christian church recently, brother Leavitt said something about "love and liberty," and those two words struck the cords in my heart strings, and my being was filled with music, love and strength.

I knew then that he was preaching the message that we are waiting to hear.

I say "we" because every heart responds to "love and liberty," and are we not in bondage as long as we walk in sin?

May it be that which the world is looking for today?

Let's go to church folks!
