MRS AMANDA COLLINS
There is no death! What seems so is transition;
This life of mortal breath
Is but a suburb of the life elysian,
Whose portals we call death.

Mrs. Amanda Collins died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jennie Greenfeldt of this city November 20 at the age of 81 years, after an illness of several weeks. Everything that loving hands could do was done to relieve her suffering. She had lived here just a few months, but she endeared herself to all who knew her.

She leaves to mourn her death, one daughter, two sisters, three grandchildren, and five great grandchildren. The remains were taken to Portland, where funeral services were held at the chapel of Miller & Tracey. Interment was in Rose City cemetery.—Contributed.

Salesmen Have Contest
The salesmen in the more than 4,000 Oakland-Pontiac dealer organizations throughout the United States have started on a "big game hunt" in which the "game" is represented by valuable prizes representing a total value of many thousands of dollars. The hunt, which ends on Christmas eve, is being conducted on a "point" basis, each car sale represents a certain number of points. Besides the "hunt" of the individual salesman, dealers are aligned against dealers, cities against cities and the 22 district offices are competing against each other. Also the entire sales organizations of the two halves of the United States are opposed in an inter-sectional rivalry led by E. M. Lubeck, western sales manager, and W. B. Sawyer, eastern sales manager, one of whom at the conclusion of the "hunt" will eat a bear dinner at the expense of the other. The winning district office will receive a handsomely mounted deer head from W. R. Tracy, vice-president in charge of sales.
