

Nehalem Well Represented At Columbia County Fair

that Mr. Koller understands the advantage of telling the world about his product and thus beating a path to his own door. Joe Junior had a brick of Parmesan cheese on display. The entire exhibit was attractive and represented an activity in the agricultural line that has only been touched upon lightly in this county.

John Welch of Goble had an attractive farm display, showing a diversity of products, which is considered a source of success in this county.

Selmer Ege of Fern Hill had a display of honey, and Mrs. Juson Weed of Vernonia had an exhibit of vegetables. Her "acorn" squash aroused considerable speculation. Harold Malmsten of Vernonia had squashes on display.

Than Brown's Somerset Lodge at Yankton was there as usual. Than is one of the most faithful and consistent exhibitors at the fair. His farm represents that wide variety of products that his New England forbears must have made a point of, for, cut off from the world, there is no reason to doubt that he could live from the produce of his farm. He specializes in potatoes and Chester White hogs.

O. J. Link, another farmer in the logged-off section near Goble, had a farm exhibit that shows a comfortable variety of products. The country back of Goble was better represented than usual this year.

N. J. Anderson of Warren had a display from his farm that was quite complete, and ranged from grasses, grains, corn and vegetables, to canned fruit, milk, butter, cream, cheese and eggs. The Warren country is a good locality for diversity along with the specialty.

In the cattle section there were milking shorthorns from the Columbia stock farm of Goble, 12 in number. The G. L. Tarbell farm of Yankton had a herd of six shorthorns. Jerseys from the Gribble farm of Portland were on display. A. H. Tarbell and his son Arnold of Warren had a herd of five shorthorns. Mr. Tarbell also had a display of Duroc Jersey hogs in the hog division, and a stallion, a two-year-old and a yearling colt in the draft horse division.

The Hammer brothers had a herd of Holsteins from their farm west of Deer Island, and J. T. Graham of Marshland had some prize Guernseys from Maple Grove farm. R. B. Magruder had Guernseys from Deltaview farm near Clatskanie.

One of the pleasing features in the cattle barn was a long row of well-kept and healthy calves, the exhibits of the calf clubs of the 4-H clubs of the county.

A new division found was the horse shed, where A. H. Tarbell of Warren had his three entries and the Deer Island Livestock company had three more. There also were saddle horse entries.

In the poultry division there was a pleasing variety of the bluebloods of the henlot. Tom Johansen of Rainier had a number of blue ribbons, while the Ancona poultry farm of Portland had a big display of poultry of many varieties, some of which are new to this section of the country, where the tendency is to stay with the familiar breeds.

There was a good-sized exhibit of goats for this county. The Gribble farm of Portland and Joe Koller of Deer Island had a sizeable display each of their respective breeds of goats. These funny-looking fellows are friendly creatures, poking their queer faces up over the top of the pen to make friends with the spectators.

One entire building was devoted to schools and club work. There were dresses, made by girls in regular club work, which may be worn on many occasions. The cooking, canning and baking exhibits were winning commendation of the visitors as being of a practical and effective nature.

A map display also added to the interest of the school exhibits. Writing, from the primary grades up, occupied a goodly space, and some of it proved to be interesting to even those who are not familiar with the Palmer method, which is used in Oregon.

In the textile department, there were approximately 250 entries, including 29 pairs of pillow slips, 18 bed spreads and 18 lunch sets. Several new features were introduced in this department this year.

The baking exhibits were appetizing and attractive, while the canned foods made up a display that delights the eye and tempts the appetite by the very sight of the goodies within the glass jars.

J. E. Stipes of the Albers Bros. milling company was judge for the cooking and baking exhibits, both in the fine arts building and the industrial club work. Miss Helen Cowgill, assistant state director of club work, was judge in the textile division.

A free children's clinic was conducted in the clinic building by Miss Nettie Alley, county health nurse, with the cooperation of practicing doctors of the county. Children were weighed and measured free of charge and their mothers are given advice as to care and feeding of the children.

Displayed Flowers At Show

To the Editor: As I did not see any place in the last week's paper where Mrs. Krinick or Mrs. Sitts entered any flowers at the Vernonia flower show, I thought it would be better to let our friends and Vernonia in general know that we both entered some very nice flowers and that we were in the same class as Mrs. Gooding—could not receive any ribbons on our flowers either, as we sell flowers.

The flowers were all wonderful and I am hoping we will still make things better another year. So remember we are still on the map to make Vernonia better.

MAJ. GEN. ALLEN LEADS VETERANS

Accepts Post at Head of ex-Soldiers' Bureau in Smith Campaign.

Major General Henry T. Allen, Commanding General of the American Army of Occupation in Germany and a popular national military figure, is directing the activities of the Veterans' Bureau of the Democratic National Committee. Major General Allen agreed to head the bureau following a talk with Chairman John J. Raskob.

"I know the soldiers would have a very good friend in Governor Smith," said General Allen. "Moreover, I think Governor Smith appeals to them in a very striking manner by reason of his personality and record. I feel that the soldiers haven't had a very large say in the affairs of the country as compared with what they ordinarily have had after every great war, but, of course, it would be impossible to keep down all the husky men who were organized during the great war and they will be heard from during the coming years."

"The Veteran's Bureau is a division of the campaign which is of very great importance," Chairman Raskob said in announcing the appointment. "The veterans are entitled to know all about the candidate, what he stands for, and the policies of the party, and we are keenly anxious to have an opportunity of telling the veterans what we know about Governor Smith's record and character."

Major General Allen served as Commanding General of the Army of Occupation in Germany for three and one-half years. He was later advisor to the American Ambassador to Great Britain at the conference of Ambassadors in Paris during the Harding administration.

After a distinguished military career General Allen was promoted to Major General just before the United States entered the World War and organized the Nineteenth Division, which he led in the major offensives at St. Mihiel and the Argonne-Meuse. As Commander of the Army of Occupation he was a member of the Inter-Allied Rhine High Commission.

FARM HEAD DEFENDS BOLT TO GOV. SMITH

Peek Tells Gov. Hamill Democratic Party's Pledge Is Ample.

The Democratic party endorsed the equalization fee in principle in the Houston platform, George N. Peek, of Moline, Ill., the chairman of the Committee of Twenty-two of the North Central States Agricultural Conference, declared in a letter to Governor John Hamill of Iowa.

Mr. Peek challenged Governor Hamill to call another conference of Governors of the states represented in the North Central States Agricultural Conference to sit in judgment upon his action in declaring his support of Governor Smith. The letter was in reply to one from Governor Hamill to Mr. Peek in which the Iowa Governor accused him of having gone beyond the power vested in the Committee of Twenty-two in bolting the Republican party.

Governor Hamill in his letter to Mr. Peek said farm relief legislation had been blocked by "politics." Mr. Peek in his letter to Governor Hamill asserted the legislation was blocked by an "unsympathetic" President, with the approval of Mr. Hoover and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

"You say that the Democratic party failed to endorse the equalization fee," wrote Mr. Peek. "To be sure, it did not by name endorse the equalization fee or the McNary-Haugen bill, but it very definitely endorsed the principle of the equalization fee when it said: 'We pledge the party to an earnest endeavor to solve this problem of the distribution of the cost of dealing with crop surpluses over the marketed units of the crop whose producers are benefited by such assistance. The solution of this problem would avoid government subsidy to which the Democratic party always has been opposed and will be a prime and immediate concern of a Democratic administration.'"

"These principles have formed the basis of farm relief that twice passed Congress in legislation, that would have furnished the opportunity for the farmers to get the benefit from tariffs on crops of which we export a surplus—legislation that was passed only to meet twice with the veto of an unsympathetic President who never advanced a constructive proposal himself addressing the problem. And this in the face of the platform pledges of his party upon which he was elected to take whatever steps are necessary to bring about a balanced condition between agriculture, industry and labor."

HEADS WOMEN IN INDUSTRY

Agnes Hart Wilson of Blossburg, Pennsylvania, running for Congress in the sixteenth Pennsylvania District asserted her support of Governor Smith by saying that she believes he will aggressively enforce the Prohibition law until it is repealed or modified.

FORMER BOSTON MAYOR IN FIRST VOTER DRIVE

Organization of the first voters has been started by the Smith-Robinson League of First Voters under the chairmanship of Andrew J. Peters, former Mayor of Boston, and Mrs. John Harlan Amen, a daughter of Grover Cleveland.

Strategic points have been selected throughout the country for regional headquarters to direct the organization of the young voters.

"The new voter in the coming election occupies a position of unusual importance in the political alignment of the country which exists today and may well hold the balance of power," former Mayor Peters said in accepting Chairmanship of the Men's Division. "The candidacy of Governor Smith makes an especial appeal to young men and women, because Governor Smith stands pre-eminently as the champion of the rights for equal opportunities for those young men and women to expand and develop in the life of our American community."

WILL CARRY MISSOURI

Governor Alfred E. Smith received the following telegram of thanks from Judge Charles M. Hay, who recently won the Democratic senatorial nomination in Missouri:

"I sincerely appreciate your message of congratulation. We will carry Missouri for both the state and national tickets. Heartiest good wishes."

The telegram was received aboard the governor's train returning from the funeral of his lifelong friend, George E. Brennan, Democratic leader of Illinois.

GOOD PAINT

There are several reasons why it pays to use good paint when painting, but one big reason is the saving in labor cost it effect. Sherwin Williams paint costs no more to put on, yet it lasts so much longer that you do not have to repaint for a number of years.
