HOME POINTERS

The proportion for a very soft custard is three to four eggs to one quart of milk; for a firmer custard, four to six eggs to one quart of milk. Two eggs to one cup of milk will make a custard that will unmold, while three eggs to one cup of milk makes a very firm custard. When using yolks alone three to four yolks to one cup of milk makes a firm custard. One tablespoon cornstarch may be used for each egg omitted.

The most common methods of cooking tough cuts are braising, pot-roasting, stewing and fricaseeing. Methods of cooking tender cuts are broiling, roasting and frying.

Washing spinach in warm water the first time loosens up much of the sand and dirt.

Cake may be kept fresh when only a small amount is eaten at a time by cutting the desired number of slices from the center of the cake. Push the two remaining pieces close together like a whole cake, and this will keep it moist and soft for several days.
