

Service Conquers Ocean Hazard

The photos cover incidental features of the actual laying of an ocean pipe line, which was towed to sea by the steamer "Peacock," which is seen in the distance, after having been welded into a single piece on shore. A cable line was made fast to the nose of the pipe line by a special bridge. The pipe line rested on a long runway, which was heavily greased. Skids under the pipe gave the pipe its half mile "ride" down to disappear in the ocean, and were cut away as the pipeline slid into the water. The operation was engineered by the General Petroleum Corporation.

SANTA CRUZ, July 10.—A "plus" in sales service through the medium of unique engineering, has developed here in the completion of a marine delivery unit of the General Petroleum Corporation of California to supply all fuel requirements of the giant Santa Cruz Portland Cement Company's plant at Davenport, ten miles north of this city.

complete on shore, on a long runway, mount it on skids and, over a heavily greased runway, tow it to sea with the fifteen hundred horsepower engines of the big steam tug "Peacock." The pipe line complete weighed a total of 82 tons. It was made fast to the tug by a bridge attached to its end. The operation, performed at early dawn, occupied less than an hour.

thousands of tourists to travel through the center of Columbia county, that these tourists going north or south over the Longview-Rainier bridge would leave thousands of dollars in Columbia county; that they would settle up the land along this road and many miles back which would add additional valuation to Columbia county's fastly diminishing valuation due to the heavy cut of timber resources; that the addition of the valuation caused by the construction of the Longview-Rainier bridge would add enough revenue to pay for this road in a short while and the people of Columbia county would then receive a direct benefit in decrease in taxes due to this added valuation.

Alfalfa Excursion Is Held In Vernonia

By Geo. A. Nelson
Last Thursday, the first alfalfa excursion was held in the Vernonia district, which brought to the attention of a number of people the possibility of raising this crop in the Nehalem valley. It was a surprise to a number that accompanied the excursion to know that as good a quality of alfalfa could be grown there successfully. Yet, Mr. Alex Sward states that he has been growing alfalfa for seventeen years and showed us remnants of the original planting, as well as an excellent three year old stand, from which he cut the first crop this year and an excellent second crop was growing at the present time. Mr. Sward states that he has been getting three crops per year.

Planing Mill Defeat Shipping Department

The boys that slick up the lumber down at the big O.A. plant got started off on the right foot in the Twilight league when they defeated the shipping department 5 to 3. Both pitchers twirled nice ball but Bowman for the shippers was accorded anything but good support, his teammates making a total of seven boots to kick away the game.

The "smooth shavers" drew first blood in the second inning when Covert was safe on a fielder's choice, was advanced on a single by Richardson and came home on Nixon's error. The shippers put across two markers in the first of the third when Laird walked, advanced on a hit by Taylor and came home on an error. Taylor later came in with the second tally on a single by Anderson.

However, the planing mill boys were not to be outdone by the boys who handle the lumber after they slick it up and accordingly scored three more in their half of the third on errors by Laird, McKillip and Anderson, hits by Crowe and Ross and a walk to McGregor. They marked up one more for good measure in the fourth on an error by Linn and a three-bagger by McGregor. The shippers also scored one in their half of the fourth on a hit by Franks, who advanced on a balk and later came home when McGregor and George began tossing the ball around carelessly between themselves, finally kicking it away to left field.

The box score for this game follows:

GRANGE RESOLUTION STRONGLY CRITICISED

"The county has seen fit and without any criticism to construct the St. Helens-Pittsburg market road and the Mist-Clatskanie market road, which are of vast importance to Columbia county, but these did not add the valuation that the construction of the Longview-Rainier bridge will bring and these same grangers did not pass resolutions condemning them.

"If the construction of the Rainier-Apawachy road will divert one half of the travel through the central part of Columbia county it is a good investment, and will repay the county many times for the initial investment for its construction."

Not Original With Lincoln
The saying, "You cannot fool all of the people all of the time" is commonly attributed to Abraham Lincoln and also to P. T. Barnum, though it is not in their biographies. A little book published by A. Wessels company in 1903, "The Wisdom of Abraham Lincoln," gives this as a quotation from Lincoln's speech at Clinton, Ill., on September 8, 1858. It is quite likely that this was a proverb or popular saying long before he uttered it. A book of old English proverbs lists a similar saying: "No one is a fool always; every one sometimes."

First Road Bonds
As early as 1894 New England issued bonds for road building, according to the American Automobile association.
Winter Harvesting
In Upper Egypt and India wheat is harvested during February and March.

Writers, Please Note
Not so long ago bottles of gum issued by the British stationery office bore the following instructions:
"In ordinary use the best and most nearly immediate result is secured by using only such an amount of gum as will just uniformly moisten the surface without leaving any obvious excess to delay drying, the condition to be aimed at being that of a gummed postage stamp just moistened as ordinarily applied to a letter."
Now some sensible economist, callously indifferent to fine writing, has replaced this piece of unexampled prose with the terse paraphrase, "Apply thinly."

"Talkies" Like "Black Waters" Are Here To Remain
More and more does the idea that talking pictures are here to stay seem to be gaining ground. Not just sound or part dialogue, but photoplays in which the characters really speak their lines—100 per cent "talkies."
In the latter class is "Black Waters," an all-dialogue, mystery melodrama shown for the first time in this city at the Joy theatre Sunday and Monday. Here we have the murky water-front of San Francisco, a mystery ship to which have been summoned several persons dining at a night club, sinister figures

A scene along the North Bank, of the Spokane, Portland and Seattle Ry.

3:30 p.m. Auxiliary glee club contest, Waller hall.
7 p.m. Drum corps championship contest and fireworks, Olinger field.
9 p.m. Public dances.
11:30 p.m. Midnight matinee, capitol theatre.

First Excursion Train

On July 5, 1911, when a "Puffing Billy" hauling two dozen open railway "carrriages"—they were called "tubs" at that time—steamed out of the station at Leicester, England, bound for Loughborough, 11 miles away, it marked an occasion memorable in railway annals, for it was the first excursion train ever run.
The train carried 570 passengers to a temperance meeting, and the organizer of the excursion was Thomas Cook, then a young printer of Market Harborough, later to become famous as the promoter of Cook's tours.—Detroit News.

slinking through the murky fog and thrill upon thrill in the cabin of a death ship afloat in the mist of the bay—certainly an intriguing and colorful location for a deep mystery.
Add that it has entertainment plus, a cast of stage people who speak their lines as only trained veterans can with superb direction by Marshall Neilan, and it can be easily understood that it is a worthwhile production.

Prominent in the cast is the veteran James Kirkwood, as the mysterious "Tiger" Larrabee; Mary Brian in the only girl role; Captain John Loder, a new leading man from England; Frank Reicher and Robert Ames, both of the speaking stage and premier comics of the screen.
World Wide Pictures, a company that seems to be filling a long-felt want, by importing motion pictures from Europe that are really entertaining, is sponsoring this fine picture, although it was made in Hollywood by an English producing company with an international cast.
It is pleasing to note, too, that the contention that talking pictures are best portrayed by men and women who have been used to speaking stage lines, seems to be borne out in this fine photoplay.
