Bible Presented To High School By Evangelical Church

Several weeks ago the Evangelical church presented to the Vernonia high school a beautiful bible, which has been placed in the high school library. While this gift from the church had not been published before, all students knew of receiving the present from the Evangelical church and appreciate the kindness of Rev. Plummer and his congregation.—L.W.

Students Appreciate Good Transportation

The Vernonia schools are favored perhaps more than many others with means of transportation. There are at least six busses which bring pupils to the Vernonia schools.

The mist pupils are especially appreciative of the transportation afforded them. Perhaps many of the pupils would not be able to attend school so regularly if it were not for the busses. More pupils attend the high school when they have transportation.—L.A.A.

Nearly States Represented

Nearly every state in the union is represented in the Vernonia high school. The Pacific coast states, the Rocky mountain states, and the southern states are the outstanding ones represented here.

Although the pupils from the south add many odd words to the English of the children who have never been out of Oregon or who have never been in the south and though they cause much humor, the high school couldn't get along without them.—L.W.

Mist Students Popular At Local High School

Since the first students from Mist enrolled in V. H. S. in 1923 the number has increased from three students to about twenty six.

These students have done much to boost the activities of our high school, and are well liked by the other students. The percentage of honor students in the Mist district is well up in comparison with the percentage from our home district.

Despite the cold, frosty mornings of winter, and the rough roads between Vernonia and Mist, the students have to rise early of mornings to get to school on time.—L.H.

Fifteen Students Attend High School From Keasey

The number of pupils along the Keasey route has greatly increased. There are about fifteen this year. They greatly appreciate the transportation which is being provided for them. It has been considerably improved. The bus system is fixed much better than the custom of paying the pupils' board in town because it enables them to live at home.—E.L.

What Vernonia Hi Means To Pleasant Hill Students

The students of the Pleasant Hill district are all eager to graduate from the eighth grade so as to come to Vernonia high.

Many of them have had sisters of brothers who have graduated with the interest which the teachers take in their students. Of course, to some of the pupils the high school means only a great deal of pleasure, but to others it means four years of study for higher things. They know if they study and make good grades their time will not be wasted, and it will be a great pleasure for them and their friends to see their names on the honor roll.—L.E.

Pleasant Disposition Of Teachers Commended

I want to tell you my opinion of the Vernonia high school. I feel as though I should apologize for my first impression of it.

When I started to school here I thought, "Gracious, what a queer little school! Does anyone know anything?"

The first few days seemed to confirm my first idea. I didn't know whether I'd like it or not. In fact, I was about ready to pack up and go home.

In the first place, I had to spend some of my hard earned cash for books. I was quite indignant when I found I would not be able to take second-year shorthand. There were a few other things that didn't fit in with my idea of a high school, and when my brand new English book apparently took a little more, the height of my disapproval had been reached.

Don't say "why did you stay then?" I am going to explain. I had just come from one of the finest new schools in Idaho, modern conveniences, and complete departments in home economics and commercial work were provided. It was an excellent school.

But I wouldn't leave Vernonia and go back to Sandpoint to school, if I could. There's something about this school that I like. I have been treated wonderfully here.

Everyone here works harder than the Sandpoint students refer thought of doing. The school there was divided into so many cliques and societies, they didn't have time to work. And if a person was on the outside he stayed on the outside.

Here I feel as though I belong to the school, and I'm glad I have the privilege of graduating from the Vernonia high school.—D.M.C.

Students Observation Most Accurate When Surveying Their Report Card

It is believed that keen observation is the most prevalent when one is in the high school age.

The Vernonia high pupils are no exceptions. Many were heard to have commended the bright, warm sunshine that has beautified these autumnal days about which poets have so often sung. They have, also, observed that the sunshine has not been kept entirely in the out-of-doors. Some of it has escaped into the classroom, and has made the lessons brighter and more cheerful.

Perhaps, the instructors have captured some of the sunny atmosphere and woven it into their dispositions. The pupils hope this is so, for their report cards will soon make their appearance again.—N.A.

Vernonia Hi Employs the Best of Teachers

The Vernonia high school probably employs more young teachers than any other high school of its size.

It has four new teachers this year, all young, and the pupils find great pleasure in having them here, because they make a point of being pleasant, and they have shown their talent as teachers, in many ways.

Every employment agency tries to get the best help, and will find the most capable person for the desired position. That is why we have our four new teachers this year, who are all recent university graduates.—E.R.

TO PREPARE BOOK ON CIVICS

Mr. Wilkerson's civics class has been told that they are to prepare a book on "Civics for high school students." Members of the class believe this is going to be very interesting work.

Nearly every year the civics class has been required to write on similar topics. Mr. Wilkerson told the class that in the past years he had received some very interesting books written by his pupils. Often they revealed the thought and study which the author had employed.—D.J.

Miss Perce's journalism classes began writing headlines, Thursday, November 21.

The classes have been writing headlines for news stories which they compiled from the facts given them. Miss Perce says that they have been making rapid progress and seem to grasp the idea readily.—V.R.

Phoebe Greenman, Editor Of St. Helens Hall Annual

Phoebe Greenman, formerly a student in the Vernonia high school, is reported to be doing excellent work in St. Helens Hall, Portland, where she is now a senior. Her last report card shows that she has received the highest grades given in all the subjects she is carrying.

Phoebe is editor of the St. Helens Hall annual.

Ralph Reithner Honor Student at U. of S. Calif.

Ralph Reithner, a graduate of Vernonia high school, is attending the university of southern California. In a recent test of scholastic aptitude at this university, Ralph passed a very creditable examination. He scored 1, 1, 1, 2, 3, in the quintile, or five abilities, in which he was tested, 1 being the highest score possible.

The senior quintet upset the much heralded juniors, Monday evening, in a fast and hotly contested fray. The score at the sound of the whistle was 30-20 with the lower classmen on the short end.

The defeated team fought hard but their superiors seemed to have the edge throughout. With a few more years experience, the juniors are expected to turn out some excellent hoopsters.

The seniors will play the freshmen, Tuesday evening to decide the inter-class championship.

Miss Amy Hughes, an alumni of the Vernonia high school, is now doing practice teaching at the university of Oregon, where she is a junior. She finds the work very interesting.

The stories which Mr. Wilkerson's civics class wrote last week are being put in the paper this week.

Four members of the annual staff visited Hicks-Chatten Engraving company Monday for the purpose of making arrangements for the engraving to be done on the annual.

Those who went were Neal Bush, editor; Grace Condit, assistant editor; Catherine Hoffman, manager; and Billie Culver, advertising manager.

The city red cross has visited the high school and reports the membership of the high school faculty one hundred per cent.

LINCOLN SCHOOL

Miss Melba Laramore, teacher of the first grade, has decorated the room appropriately for the Thanksgiving season. Turkeys, cut out and colored, have been attractively arranged as a frieze above the blackboard.

The second grade pupils, of which Miss Florence Santee is the teacher, receiving 100 per cent in spelling for the past week are as follows: Franque Fitzgerald, Harvey Holcomb, Mildred Fredrickson, Russell Miller, Virgie Killian and Beverly Crawford.

The third grade, Miss Pearl Kraus, teacher, received the $2.50 prize awarded by the ticket committee to the class selling the greatest number of tickets for the play held recently which was sponsored by the teachers of the grade schools. The money was spent for multiplication and division sets.

Those receiving 100 per cent in spelling for the week are Charlie Koto, Carl Smith, Montana French, Marjorie Navinger, Hideo Yokoto and Bruce Holcomb.

Those receiving 100 in spelling for the past week in the fourth grade of which Miss Rae Davis is the teacher, are Lawrence Bennett, Elmer Harvey, Edith Mae Holgate, Daisy MacDonald, Melvin Boeck, Charles McGraw, Claude Miller, Buster Nance, Marie Scott and Bertha Thompson.

Under the supervision of their teacher, Mrs. Thomas, the pupils of the fifth grade have made a very interesting relief map, in color, of South America. The elevations of the plateau regions and mountains were made of flour, salt and water, afterwards being colored with water colors to depict the different elevations.

The fifth grade had the lowest attendance for the present year on Monday due to the sickness of many of the pupils.

A TRIP TO A PRINTING OFFICE

(Accounts of the recent trip made by the pupils of the fourth grade of the Lincoln school to the Eagle shop were written by the pupils of that class. The following, written by Lawrence Bennett, has been chosen as the best story by their teacher, Miss Davis.)

Yesterday afternoon the fourth grade class of the Lincoln school with our teacher, Miss Davis, visited the printing office of the Vernonia Eagle.

The office building of the Vernonia Eagle is a nice new tile building. It has three rooms in it.

The first room we went into was the Eagle office and then we went in a larger room which contained several machines. The first thing we saw was a man sitting on a bench making the words for the paper. Another man, who could read the words backward arranged them for the machine.

Then he climbed up on a bench and moved a lever and the machine started. He had a pile of papers on top of the machine. There was another paper on the roller and he would slip a paper on top of this paper.

The roller would roll around and would print the words on the good paper.

Next we went into a smaller room where a man showed us the pictures that are printed on the paper. One of the pictures was of the new Vernonia school building.

As we were leaving the Eagle office a lady gave each of us a piece of type.

We spent a pleasant afternoon with the office people, who were very kind to show us how newspapers are printed.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL

The first basketball practice for the grade school was held last Wednesday in the high school gym. There was a good turnout, but the material is small and inexperienced. The only letterman from last year's team in school this year is Robert Cline, a guard. The boys are greatly handicapped as the grade school has no gymnasium, but the high school is good enough to make time for our practice. Although most of the boys have had no previous experience, they are showing good spirit and a desire to learn, which should have its effect before the season ends.

Those who received 100 in spelling in the second grade are: Frances Childs, Angeline Yana, Wilton Rogers, Carl Hoff, Halger Oveser, Dolores Swinn, Evelyn Tyrone, Willa Mae Godwin, Madeline Michoff, Elsie Duncan, Charlotte Covington, Loren Kastur, Kathleen Terrier, Maxine Hanna, Gerald George, Erma Kent, Richard Austin, Mildred Lamoreaux, and Merle Tindall.

Those who received 100 in spelling in the third grade are: Cecelia Gough, Rosalee Van Burpen, Harold Graven, Elmer Michener, Ray Dickson, Marjorie

HOW MUCH MEAT PER PERSON?

Experienced housewives plan to buy a half-pound of meat for each person served. Naturally, this rule varies, but a half-pound is usually enough for each serving—considering the shrinkage in cooking. For stews, with plenty of vegetables, much less is needed. Bear this in mind when buying meat, and your pocketbook will be as well nourished as your family.
