

Tri-motored Plane Sets International Record

Here are photos made at the Metropolitan airport, Van Nuys, Calif., where on March 26 a tri-motored Bach cabin plane, fuelled with Richfield gas and lubricated with Richlube motor oil, set a new international record over 100 kilometers, loaded with more than two tons of dead weight in sand bags. Top photo shows plane with Dudley Steele, head of the aviation department of Richfield, and Pat Fleming, pilot, standing in front of "props." Middle photo shows (left to right at left of photo) Glenn Odekirk, observer; Pat Fleming, pilot, and Joe Nikrent, official timer, watching Steele and Gerald Ryder, official observer, weight the 2000 kilograms of sand. Below, closeup of Fleming, at left, and Nikrent before the plane which was named the "Q. E. D." The former 100 kilometer speed record, held by France, was broken at a rate of nearly four miles per hour by Fleming's stock Bach.

Loaded Plane Breaks Record

MANY COME TO SEE SHIP AT VAN NUYS.

Pilot Fleming Gives Credit to Plane and Fuel Used.

Van Nuys, Calif., Mar. 28—Here at the Metropolitan airport where a world's record for speed with a loaded plane was broken several days ago by a Bach tri-motored cabin ship fuelled with Richfield gasoline and lubricated with Richlube oil, thousands have visited within the last week the view the record-making plane. For this is the powerful and fast product of America's Pacific west which, piloted by Pat Fleming, snatched an international record for 100 kilometers away from France on the morning of March 26.

In addition to the big white Bach bird being on display, Pilot Fleming is also in the spotlight. Every visitor wants to see and to congratulate this lad who set the new record. But Pat Fleming is a modest creature, and refuses personal credit, preferring to pass it to his plane and the fuel and oil he used.

The New Cancer Treatment

The following statement from the American Society for the Control of Cancer represents the authentic opinion of leaders in cancer control work:

About once a month the daily press announces the discovery of an alleged new treatment or "cure" for cancer, frequently exaggerating the importance of the results of scientific investigation and raising false hopes on the part of those afflicted with the disease.

Such an announcement has recently been broadcast by newspapers throughout the United States regarding a report made by Doctor Walter B. Coffey and Dr. John D. Humber of San Francisco to the San Francisco County Pathological society last month in which they stated that certain changes in cancer tissue had been obtained by the injection of a substance extracted from the suprarenal gland of a sheep.

During recent years many investigators have reported that the injection of various substances has produced changes in cancer tissue. Such substances have included preparations of lead, gold and other metals, vaccines, and various proteins. The results of these forms of treatment in general, have been quite disappointing and, in some cases, even disastrous. None of them has, as yet, justified any claim of a cure for cancer or has been generally accepted as a satisfactory method of treatment.

In their attempt to find a solution to the baffling problem of cancer control, Doctors Coffey and Humber have made an interesting discovery; of which the practical value is yet to be determined. Their frank presentation of facts to the medical profession conforms to the highest standards of medical ethics. Commenting upon their work, Doctors Coffey and Humber made the following statement in a recent issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association:

"This work to date has been purely of an experimental nature to determine the effect on malignant tumors. Softening with liquefaction has occurred in all the tumors thus far studied. These tumors, except one, were carcinoma of different types; the exception is a recurrent spindle cell sarcoma, with extensive metastases. Because of these results, a broad plan of study has been outlined with a determination to discover as soon as possible the value, if any, of this extract in cancer. Until such time as additional data become available, we wish to impress on the medical profession the fact that the work to date, although quite promising, is still in the experimental stage, and therefore decidedly inconclusive."

The fact remains, therefore,

that the only generally approved methods of treatment for cancer justified by present experience are surgery, radium, and X-rays in the hands of skilled physicians.

Divide your Dollar with your neighbors!

BUY AT HOME

Everybody has a certain amount of civic pride—that sort of pride which helps make a village a town, and a town a metropolitan city.

The growth of any community is dependent upon the support given its citizens. If you fail in your cooperation the town either stands still or retrogrades.

If you uphold the town by sustaining it wholeheartedly you help yourself and the community. The theme of this advertisement is: "HELP YOUR CITY; BUY AT HOME!"

Divide your dollars among your merchants and others who have the interests of the populace at heart. Help them and they will help you to greater values—for increased volume means decreased costs.

The town needs your support and you need the support of the town. Let's get together and share our prosperity.
