TO THE MOTORIST

(By a Reader) Did you ever have the occasion of sliding your tires to avoid hitting a cow? This is provoking, but is merely paying a little extra for the beef you buy. In other words, it is paying the balance of what it would have cost if this cow was not on outside range. The timber is moving fast and if the cattle and sheep don't keep under brush down, what will the varmints do?

It takes 50 rods of fencing to fence an acre tract of land, let's increase this amount, say 40 acres, this will take 320 rods.

It has been estimated by several prominent farmers that it costs $1 per rod for fencing. This means then $50 to fence one acre, $320 to fence 40 acres.

Then you must rotate pasture or give it a rest period and this calls for more dividing fences.

Give a farmer time to do his fencing as he is working long hours on a very small margin as it is.

TO THE FARMER

(By a Reader) Mr. Farmer, are you trying to promote farming in this community? If so, in what line? If in cattle or dairying your most economical way of building up your herd is your herd sire. If you have a good herd sire that is fine, perhaps he is a Jersey or Guernsey, etc.

What strain is your neighbor's? A different strain most likely. He may have his young heifers and also cows on open range which he has a perfect right under present rules, yet his cows get served by your sire which has been running at large for some time.

What is his herd sire kept for? Also his heifers come fresh from 18 months to two years. Will these heifers have a chance to make cows?

This very thing is happening in this valley now (today). These sires have no right to run loose and shall not run loose.

Let's cooperate and try to produce the cows and cattle we want, not the kind we get. If you have a herd sire, better get him up if he is not already up.

SUBSCRIBER, AND FARMER.

Expresses in Sevens The term "seven seas" in literature is used as a general term for all of the seas of the world, as known at various times. In modern times it has been held to include the great oceans such as the North and South Atlantic, the North and South Pacific, the Indian, Arctic and Antarctic oceans. The seven seas, according to ancient teaching were those of understanding, speech, sight, taste, hearing, smell and touch. The seven wonders of the ancient world were the pyramids of Egypt, hanging gardens of Babylon, Mausoleum at Halicarnassus, temple of Diana at Ephesus, Colossus at Rhodes, Pharos at Alexandria, statue of Olympian Jove.

Training Pedagogues

The first genuine effort for the professional training of teachers undertaken in the world was undoubtedly by Jean Baptiste de La Salle at Rheims in 1681. At the beginning of the Nineteenth century the development of institutions to train teachers took on a new life and the Prussian system of normal schools was firmly established. Six normal schools had been organized in that country. It was about this time that the subject of preparing teachers for public schools began to receive attention in America.

Widow's Scruple

A West Dallas widow says the reason her last engagement came to nothing was because her fiance was a patent medicine man who got mad because she wouldn't talk about her liver in a testimonial.—Dallas News.

The Pastor Says:

Many a life is an elephant bitten to death by a multitude of flea-like interests. Before 1918, people killed resisting the law were suspicious characters, but now they are somebody's darlings.—John Andrew Holmes.

Roadside Refreshment Stands The State of Oregon lying between California and Washington, the highways of this state attract a large number of tourists. This traffic has created a demand for certain necessities by the traveling public, particularly food, drink, toilet facilities, and automobile supplies and service. Roadside refreshment stands are increasing in great numbers. It is easy to believe that food and drink dispensed to the public at such stands might have an important effect on the health of residents and visitors within the state and that the proper sanitation of such places is essential to the public health.

No one who has driven about Oregon extensively in the last ten years will dispute the fact that a great improvement has taken place in that period. There are, however, yet some roadside refreshment stands that are unsatisfactory due to a lack of supervision. Letters are frequently received by the State Board of Health complaining of insanitary conditions.

The need of routine inspections of roadside stands and an enforcement of the sanitary rules and regulations in respect to such stands by local health authorities demonstrates the need of a more effective form of regulation.

There are located in Oregon on our highways a great number of refreshment stands furnishing food and drink to many thousands of persons each year. Most be constructed to Oregon Pulp and Paper Company plant.

Some, or is prepared in an unclean manner or by unclean individuals harmful results may occur to many residents and visitors in Oregon.

The safety of the water supply, the method and adequacy of the equipment for handling refuse, sewage, and garbage, the extent and methods of food handling, general sanitary aspects of surroundings, the facilities for cleansing utensils and toilet facilities, all these should be provided for by proper legislation in order to protect the public.

The public can raise the standards of these stands by refusing to patronize roadside eating places that are insanitary and reporting them to the proper authorities. However, the public must not forget that it is their duty to assist in the proper maintenance of toilets and proper disposal of refuse matter.

Salem—$60,000 addition will be constructed to Oregon Pulp and Paper Company plant.
