

Forty-One Years Ago

From the Nehalem Journal, November 12, 1889.

The road to the Grove is wretched.

Following is a notice stuck on the cabin door of Al Berridge, the locator of upper Nehalem renown:

Public Notice— To whom it may concern, we the last victims of A. E. Berridge hereby notify the good citizens of this community; that we have taken into our own hands his pursuit and capture and are now preparing to camp on his trail and his capture and incarceration is sure to follow. Then rejoice ye defrauded for justice will be done.

November 19, 1889 There are 32 pupils enrolled in the Vernonia school.

Just after passing the six mile stake the axle of the stage broke and the two passengers and the driver were forced to finish the rest of the journey to Cornelius on horseback.

"TURK" SUSTAINS INJURIES FROM INEBRIATE CALLERS

M. E. Turkington, of Turk's Chili bowl in West St. Helens, experienced the first "rough house" of his career Saturday evening when he attempted to protect two high school boys from some local men who had been drinking not wisely, but too well.

Turk sustained a fractured rib in the fray and reports that some damage was done to the shop. He is going to file suit against the men to recover the damage done.

"In the future," Turk stated, "any one who starts a fight in my place will be met from the inside of the counter first, and talked to afterward."

SAME HERE

We notice that one of our contemporaries last week carried the notification to its readers that it was short of space and that several important news stories had been left out. No doubt every paper that is out after the news could carry this information almost every week, even though it is more true some weeks than others. The production of a weekly newspaper is an all week job and occasionally when abnormal demands are made upon personnel and equipment in the last minute rush, there are omissions and errors which while regretted cannot be avoided.

We are perfectly willing to take the ups and downs of our business, but for the purpose of better understanding we make this explanation and urge that whenever you believe that this newspaper can be of any service that we be notified as soon as possible in order to avoid the mistakes that are possible in a last minute rush. We are equipped to handle a large volume on a short notice as well as any weekly paper in the state but at the same time it is designed to have the work spread throughout the entire week.

THE STRONGHOLD OF AMERICANISM

The Argus is glad that there is still a sufficient amount of Americanism in the small towns that mercenary pursuits can be forgotten for a brief day to observe and celebrate Armistice Day, which is the greatest day ever experienced by millions of people throughout the world. This armistice a short 12 years ago ended the greatest war in the history of the world and the ending of that bloody controversy was the happiest moment for the armed men of many nations to say nothing of the relief felt by the parents and other relatives of those millions of men.

Yet, it has come to pass that in many places not a sufficient significance is given to the day to recognize it as a holiday. It was business as usual Tuesday for most of Portland's merchants, manufacturers and wholesalers. The store which furnishes the next governor stands out in bold relief in the Portland retail area and gives the day the rightful place among the holidays to be observed.

OCTOBER SETS MARK FOR INFUX OF NEW FAMILIES

October eclipsed all previous months in 1930 for the arrival of new families in Oregon, which totaled 120, according to the monthly report of the state chamber of commerce. The new families invested $318,822 in land, equipment, household goods and other property.

Acres of land purchased by new families totaled 10,005, located in all parts of the state. Letters arriving daily at the state chamber office tell of hundreds of families in the middle and southern states who plan trips of inspection to Oregon this fall. A large shipment of agricultural and industrial products secured from the county exhibits at the Pacific International Livestock show was sent to the Los An-

Among Our Neighbors

Hugo Johnson, charged with theft of a car, escaped from the Columbia county jail Sunday night, November 9, by knocking down Sheriff Weed while he was locking up prisoners for the night.

An additional deputy marshal, L. M. O'Neal, has been employed by the St. Helens city council to patrol the West St. Helens district.

St. Helens and Scappoose high schools played a 0 to 0 tie on Armistice day. This is the fourth year these teams have played scoreless ties in their annual game.

The St. Helens chamber of commerce has selected Ira Hyde, editor of the Mist, to go to Washington, D. C. to interview government officials and present the advantages of St. Helens as a site for a soldier's home prior to the visit of the inspecting committee. Mr. Hyde leaves at once. He is a brother of Arthur M. Hyde, secretary of agriculture.

The new plant of the lower Columbia Co-operative Dairy association at Clatskanie will be dedicated November 21. It began work Tuesday.

J. C. Skeans of Rainier has geles office of the state chamber where they will be used to "sell Oregon" to thousands of middle-westerners and others in that section seeking farm and business opportunities.

Grain Certification Banishes Mixtures

One-third of all grain received at the Portland market in 1918 was graded "mixed." Less than 6 per cent is so graded now. Pure strains stand for—

- 1. More Grain. 2. Better Grain. 3. Better Prices. 4. Better Business.

The certification work, conducted by the Oregon Extension service, is recognized publicly by the grain trade of the entire Northwest.
