WELL DONE V. H. S.

In response to the plea to the V. H. S. student body for money, canned goods, food—anything for the community chest, the students answered nobly.

Those who were, due to depressing circumstances, not able to contribute money to the chest brought food, which is equally acceptable and sufficient to those who are direly in need.

This response of mercy radiates the true spirit of Vernonia high school students and the school as a whole. It has always been, is now, and always will be the true objective of V. H. S. to do just those things as there has been done at this time.

Lest we forget we might also commend the faculty upon their kind-hearted, welcome, and good sized contribution to the "hat."

We sincerely hope that each succeeding student body will show the same true spirit which the present one has shown.

Well done, V. H. S.

THE NEW YEAR

Well folks, it's here—good old 1933. 1932 has passed and with it the old trials, faults, depression, and everything undesirable— we hope.

The old year has been full of hardships and, believe it or not, there was a depression.

But what if the old year was a bad one? That has nothing to do with the New Year which is full of hope.

Let everyone make his resolutions early and determine to keep them. Then the year will be an easy one.

O. K., V. H. S., do your duty and help to make the New Year a good one and put the old year and its memories to the side.

SENIOR CLASS GIVES CHRISTMAS PROGRAM FRIDAY, DECEMBER 23

The senior class of the Vernonia high school gave a Christmas program in the high school auditorium Friday, December 23.

The selections on the program were: "The Other Wise Man," told by Marjorie Meeker; "Silent Night," sung by the Glee Club and pantomimed by Lela Beveridge; "The Birds Christmas Carol," told by Elizabeth Piets.

Santa Claus read letters received from some of the students in the high school and then "Jingle Bells" was sung by the audience.

The money that is usually spent for candy was given to charity this year. Many of the students brought food also.

FIRST LEAGUE GAME TO BE PLAYED JAN. 13, HERE

Vernonia's first league game of the season will be played in the grade school gym with the St. Helens basketball team, January 13.

The team expects to win.

HI LIFE . . .
Read It and Weep

Hi pals! Don't say we didn't warn you. The Major again caught:

Yours truly, the editor, modestly acknowledging the suggestion that he must have lived in the 14th century, so great was his ability in reading ancient English. Stop clapping folks. IS MY face red? . . . A beautiful Christmas tree adorning a desk in the senior room. Ah, the great outdoors. How exhilarating is the smell of trees. Pooh pooh! . . . Joy Bush choking on a giggle. So . . . Students sending letters to Santa Claus. We'll let you in on a tip, Bob Cline wanted a stenographer. Ho! Ho! . . . Martin (the Monk) Hillman coming into the senior room after a delightful swim from his home to the school house. Ditto for everybody else who ventured out into the weather last week . . . Art Nanson deliberating upon New Year's resolutions. Art will no longer be late for school; won't sleep in class; agrees to keep his feet off the teacher's desk; will study English instead of chemistry, as he did last semester; will try to conquer his overwhelming modesty; and last but not least, will give others a chance to answer questions. Ah, noble Arthur. A medal for you Art! . . . The gallant Mr. Lindsay bowing to the fair element of the class of '33. Oh for a sling-shot! . . . Dorothy Ratkie wondering why she got so low in history. The Constitution is NOT a village newspaper, Dorothy. Sorry . . . The shameless juniors actually sitting still . . . The junior cat reposing in the sophomore section. Shame, juniors, shame . . . Bert Eastman's car refusing "to run" in '33. By the way, here's a poem dedicated to Bert:

Blessings on the old tin can,
My old rusty Ford sedan
With thy stripped and worn out gear,
Jolly music to my ears,
With thy old and rusty hood
And thy fenders not too good,
Darling, you are growing old,
Yet I hate to see you soid . . .
Dale Clark, giving good-natured advice to the younger students . . . Stanley Parker, oh yes, wishing that he had chin whiskers like Art Nanson. A worthy ambition, to be sure.

Bliss on the old tin can,
My old rusty Ford sedan
With thy stripped and worn out gear,
Jolly music to my ears,
With thy old and rusty hood
And thy fenders not too good,
Darling, you are growing old,
Yet I hate to see you soid . . .
Dale Clark, giving good-natured advice to the younger students . . . Stanley Parker, oh yes, wishing that he had chin whiskers like Art Nanson. A worthy ambition, to be sure.

VERNONIA DROPS GAME TO FOREST GROVE FIVE

The Vernonia high basketball team again met defeat at the hands of the Forest Grove team. The game was played on the slippery Forest Grove floor last Friday evening. The score was 55 to 9 in favor of Forest Grove.

Vernonia started the ball rolling and shortly had five points. They were unable to keep up the pace and, as a result Forest Grove overtook them and had increased the lead to 27-6 for Forest Grove, by the end of the half. tice by throwing peanuts into each other's mouth.

Helen Beach gave a few slight-of-hand tricks.

We all pitied the janitor but we didn't see anyone helping him sweep the shells and peanuts up. A very good time was had by all.

THE CHRISTMAS PROGRAM
The Christmas program was held Friday evening, Dec. 23, in the high school gym. The high school girls gave a short play. Other numbers by the high school were several readings and a Christmas song. The rest of the program was given by the grade school. There was a Christmas treat for all the children. A large crowd from the community attended.

POLICEMAN BEE
We wonder if Edith will be good after the padding she received from the janitor last Friday. Maybe the janitor has more authority than we think. Anyway it is certain that those who saw the event will surely act their age when they see the janitor coming.

WE WONDER—
If Emmanuel and Albert got to Vernonia . . . What kind of a rat put the peanut shells in the girls' desks. (They were two-legged.) . . . If Cecilia was glad the bus didn't go to school Tuesday . . . If Helen had enough peanuts Friday . . . If Lucille was the one that cried "There's Santa Claus" at the program Friday night . . . If our editor puts Emmanuel's news in the paper . . . If Santa was good to the freshmen. (They looked it.) . . . If Edith brought a cushion to school . . . Why Edith wears a hat since she visited the barber?
