TWO SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASSES PLAN PICNIC

The Evangelical Sunday school classes of Mrs. Dan Cason and Matt Gibson plan a picnic at Bonneville about the middle of the month. They will go in the new stage which Thor Gronbeck, of the Portland-Banks stage line, expects to receive soon.

MRS. CASON'S CLASS ENJOYS PICNIC

The girls' Golden Rule class of the Evangelical Sunday school, taught by Mrs. D. C. Cason, enjoyed a picnic at Anderson's grove on the Nehalem river last Friday with 14 members attending.

Games and swimming and a bountiful picnic luncheon were the diversions of the day. Frances Childs and Geraldine Cason were guests.

Zonweiss Douglass had charge of games and Jeannette John and Erma Kent served refreshments.

Evangelical Sunday School Notes

At the Evangelical Sunday school last Sunday the class airplanes made fine progress in their flight from Vernonia to New York following the take off, the previous week.

The Golden Rule class won the attendance banner for making the most mileage last Sunday, but still the Sunbeams class held the lead in the race.

Considerable interest is being displayed in this novel contest. Attendance determines each Sunday's mileage and each plane's altitude depends on new class members enrolled.

The contest will end on rally day next fall and the reward is to be a big Sunday school party at which the five leading classes will be royally entertained by the remaining classes.

A special surprise number during the opening exercises each Sunday morning is a feature of the summer months. Last Sunday Melvin Rose, Alfred Webb, Myrtle Webb, Maxine John and Edna Mowe sang America the Beautiful.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH SCHOOL

The revival meeting has closed but the revival continues in the Christian church school.

The young people's group especially is larger and more active than ever before. Young people of Vernonia if you wish to learn of a clean road to happiness and joyful living come to Bible school and enroll yourself with this group.

The Bereans won the attendance banner last Sunday and the Daughters won the Bible reading banner.

Come with us and learn what real pleasure it is to spend the Lord's Day at His House, "About my Father's Business."
