JUNIORS ARE HOSTS AT ANNUAL PROM

The junior class of Vernonia high school played host to about 300 friends of the school at the annual Junior Prom in the high school gymnasium Friday night. The event is in honor of the graduating class.

The setting for the dance suggested a garden with shrubs, ferns and blossoms growing against a garden wall which surrounded the room. The words "Welcome Seniors" were formed in silver across the entrance, and hanging baskets of spring flowers and greenery were used effectively. A silver and blue color note honoring the senior class colors predominated, and was used for streamers which hid the ceiling.

Punch was served at an old fashioned well, and the Dan Flood orchestra of Portland played behind a white garden fence and gate. Colored lights enhanced the scene.

Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Judd Greenman, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Condit, Mr. and Mrs. Harold McEntire, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace McCrae and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gordon.

Several underclassmen assisted with checking, tickets, and the punch bowl. These included Heidi Reich, Mildred Woods, Pat McGraw, Marjorie Lange, Bessie Bell, Betty Jacobs and Ernie Russell.

All members of the junior class assisted with arrangements under the leadership of Wallace McCrae, class advisor, and Clarence Lamping, class president. Among those who were responsible for the beautiful decorations and lighting effects were Norman Crowder, Elizabeth Wall, Edith Ludwig and Sonny Schacklock. Jack Childs was music chairman, and Margaret Salomonsen in charge of invitations.
