AN APPRECIATION

The Eagle is in receipt of a letter from a former resident of Camp McGregor which reads as follows:

"I would like to add a tribute or two regarding the life of our esteemed friend, Elbridge R. Estey.

"I was especially impressed with the deep interest Mr. Estey displayed in constructive matters pertaining to the education and training of the young and by the whole-hearted cooperation he always gave to the same.

"Mr. Estey was a great outdoor man. He loved nature, the hills, trees and streams, and his beautiful big Chesapeake dog Marcot, a faithful companion.

"Indeed, a loyal citizen, a kindly neighbor, as well as a trusted and efficient worker has gone from us."

and county reflect the aspirations of its people for their children and for the community. Perhaps you may have many times with some pride pointed out a beautiful new school building, or an attractive playground which is a credit to your community.

But how much do you know about the educational program of your school, the qualifications of its teachers, the facilities of its library, and the adequacy of its equipment for good teaching in the classroom, laboratory and shop? How well is your school administered, supervised and taught? What is being done to adapt school studies to the present day needs of your boy and girl? How is the outlook of your children affected by what they learn today? These are matters of far greater importance than the background in which they are offered.

American Education Week was established by the American Legion and the National Department of Education to help citizens evaluate the more essential factors in local educational facilities and to formulate plans for their improvement.

Next to the home itself, the school is the greatest ally in preparing your children to take their places in the world of life. Listen to the national broadcasts that come in on your radio each Monday, Wednesday and Saturday on KEX from the Columbia and NBC systems and visit your schools to know them and make them better. Nearly ten million people of this country are expected to visit their schools this week.
