Here is the new scientific instrument—the Light Meter—that enables us to measure lighting just as accurately as a thermometer measures temperature.

MEASURED LIGHT

Nearly all his knowledge will come through his eyes. Don't let him be handicapped by poor eyesight due to poor lighting. A saving made at his expense is not a saving.

It is a simple matter nowadays to tell whether your home lighting is sufficient for all seeing tasks with the new Sight Meter, which we will be glad to furnish.
