NOT ENOUGH WORDS TO DESCRIBE "DOC" BROWN'S GLADIOLUS

"Doc" Brown may be Pittsburg's leading patch-and-mend man, but he's also the community's leading flower grower. Roses and gladiolus are "Doc's" specialty. This week he proves his ability as a gladiolus fancier and cultivator by bringing to The Eagle 20 stems of the most beautiful, most gorgeous, colossal, colorful, rich and inspiring varieties the management admits it has ever viewed.

The blossoms are twice as large as the ordinary variety and the stems will present a profusion of color for many days. Leaving the blooms in the office all day Tuesday, not a person calling failed to marvel at the great flowers.
