News of the Theatre

SPENCER TRACY IS '38 PRIZE WINNER

From the squalor and tragedy created by the depression emerges under the facile direction of Frank Borzage and the superb histrionics of co-stars Spencer Tracy and Loretta Young, a Columbia film called "Man's Castle," which opens today at the Joy Theatre. And "Man's Castle" may be regarded as a brilliant screen achievement, a love story placed in a tawdry setting but filled with the warmth of life itself.

"Man's Castle" is the story of a whistle in the night without wanting to hop a freight, and of a girl who loved him so strongly she told him he was free to go whenever he wished. Tracy, whose work in "Captain's Courageous" won him the 1938 Academy award, and Miss Young have never been cast in roles so perfectly suited to their individual talents. Borzage's direction surpasses in poignancy, sincerity and beauty his direction of such screen classics as "Seventh Heaven," "Bad Girl" and "Farewell to Arms."

Splendid support is given the two stars by some of Hollywood's most distinguished actors, including Walter Connolly, Marjorie Rambeau, Glenda Farrell, Arthur Hohl, and Dickie Moore.

"SPEED TO BURN" IS COLORFUL MOVIE

Acclaimed by screen previewers to be "all that's grand in romance and racing—and entertainment—" "Speed to Burn," first of a new series from 20th Century-Fox, comes Saturday to the Joy Theatre.

A heartwarming human story of one of the world's most exciting sports, the film is rich with all the romance and color of the race track. It introduces a new screen family, the Gambinis, destined for immediate favor in the affections of all filmgoers. Into the lives of the Gambinis comes the boundless love of a man for his girl, the dauntless faith of a boy in his gallant thoroughbred, and the thrill of an exciting victory.

Michael Whalen and Lynn Bari head the featured cast in a story built around War Paint, a race horse. The horse's fall from grace, his career in the police department and his come-back on the race-track provide the theme. Woven into this is a love story of a police sergeant for a girl who desert a gang of horse racketeers to redeem the equin's reputation . . . and the faith of a jockey in his mount, Henry Armetta and a new "family" plus an enjoyable police force provide the laughs.

SONJA HENIE STAGES BRILLIANT BALLET

In their search for a colorful ballet to climax the skating numbers in her current 20th Century-Fox picture, "My Lucky Star," Sonja Henie and her dance director, Harry Losee, turned happily to one of the most beloved story-book classics of all time—Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland."

All of Carroll's fantastic creatures have come to life—and all on skates. Sonja skims across the ice in the company of Tweedledee and Tweedledum (appropriately played by Jack and Bob Hensley who are identical twins) and the Walrus and the Carpenter.

The philosophic caterpillar descends from his toadstool to join the dance, together with the King and Queen and Knave of Hearts; there are the Griffin and the Dodo, the Mock Turtle and the Dormouse as well as the Ugly Duchess, the Cheshire Cat, the Mad Hatter, the White Rabbit, the Red and Black court attendants.

TEXAS STORY MAKES VIVID SCREEN SAGA

Seldom has history been so excitingly told and characters out of the distant past so vividly brought to life as in Paramount's epic of the South's struggle for freedom during the dark days after the War between the States, "The Texans," which has its first showing Tuesday at the Joy Theatre! It recaptures the spirit of one of the most thrilling periods of this country's history and is a powerful story of the men who rebuilt America after the national destruction of the "brothers' war."

Lovely Joan Bennett, as a fire-eating belle of the Old South who fights a one-woman war against Randolph Scott, as a gallant Southern soldier who counsels a clasping of hands across the bloody chasm after the War, play the romantic leads in the story of the ten-year battle between corrupt carpet-baggers and proud natives for the control of the destinies of the South.

TAYLOR NOW TIPS SCALES AT 174

Concentrated effort can train a film star for almost any sort of athletic role provided he keeps in good physical condition between roles, declared Robert Taylor.

Taylor, who amazes the professional fighters who appear with him in "The Crowd Roars"—among them Maxie Rosenbloom, Jimmy McLarnin, Patsy Perroni and Mickey McAvoy—by his near-perfect fighting build and ability to handle himself in the ring, trained for exactly fourteen days before beginning fight scenes for the picture, which comes to the Joy Theatre for a two-day engagement next Thursday.

"One of the first things I was told when I made my first film test was that I was too skinny," the star reminisced. "At the time I weighed between 155 and 160. So I started working out with the weights. I did calisthenics every day. I concentrated particularly on arm and chest development and did enough running to keep my legs in shape. Gradually I built myself to about 176 and I've stayed at that weight for the past two years. Right now I'm probably in the best shape I've ever enjoyed in my life and I tip the scales at 174.

"The only fighting I ever did before this picture was as a kid in Nebraska, when I used to get my face rubbed in the dirt regularly. The one time I thought I had a good chance to win, somebody broke it up."
