

High School-

MUSICIANS TO MEET AT RAINIER—

For the first time, Columbia county will have a county music festival. It will be held at Rainier high school, May 11. Glee clubs, orchestras and bands from all Columbia county high school will compete.

The Vernonia Girls' Glee Club will sing two numbers by themselves; namely, "The Hiking Song," and "Ho-La-Li," a Bavarian folk song. They will then combine with all the other clubs to sing several numbers.

The members of the orchestra will play in the mass band made up of musicians from all the high schools.

SENIORS TO ISSUE NEXT TIMBERLINE—

Members of the senior class will publish the next and last issue of the Timberline, May 17, which will be the Senior Special.

Seniors will do the reporting and print anything they want of importance as well as the regular material. The class will and property will be included.

Because it will be their day, Class Day, and their paper, each student and visitor will receive a copy.

MR. LOCKWOOD ENTERTAINS STUDENTS—

Mr. Lockwood, assistant state game commissioner, entertained the students of V. H. S. by showing them a moving picture of game, Monday, May 1.

The first reel showed the beaver in its home and the transplanting of them. Other reels showed the characteristics of the antelope, pictures of deer and sage hen, and different fishing scenes.

SENIORS HONOR QUEEN AT BALL—

Friday evening, the May Queen and her court will be honored at a ball sponsored by the senior class.

The ball is to be held in the high school gym. The high school orchestra will furnish the music. The admission is 25c for girls and 35c for boys. The dance is not formal. Dancing will begin at nine o'clock. The royal party will enter at about ten o'clock.

ANNUAL OUT WEDNESDAY—

"The Memolog," the high school annual, will be distributed the afternoon of May 10.

The total price of the book this year is 1.25. Those who made deposits must pay the full price before they will receive their copy.

This year, the annual contains seventy-one pages in all. Nineteen of these are picture pages. There are several pages of snapshots in addition to class pictures, faculty pictures and club pictures. There will be forty-two mimeographed pages.

PROM PROVES A SUCCESS—

All paths led to the Junior Prom last Friday, April 28, in the high school gym.

Every year the juniors honor the outgoing seniors with a semi-formal dance which is the Junior Prom.

This year the Prom was decorated to represent a grape arbor.

"Farewell Class of 1939" was written in a cluster of imaginative grapes across from the entrance.

Music was furnished by Bert Frazier and his orchestra of Longview.

SENIORS TO BE BANQUETED—

Members of the senior class will be honored May 16 with the annual senior banquet sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion.

The banquet will be held at the Legion hall and will be decorated to carry out the class motto and class colors.

All the faculty members are invited to attend the banquet. This is the first year the entire faculty has been invited.

TUESDAY SET FOR ELECTION DATE—

Next Tuesday, May 9, the student body officers will be elected for the coming year.

The nominees are: president, Jack Baker, Andy Killian and Frances Childs; vice-president, Melvin Powell, George Bishop and Ray Thacker; secretary, Lillian Hedman, Heidi Reich and Elsie Duncan; treasurer, Joanne Nichols, Jeanne Ryves and Delores George; business manager, Fred Thompson and Roy Soejima; yell leader, Clifford Bergerson.

MIST HELPING CIRCLE TO PAINT CEMETERY FENCE; BAZAAR DUE

MIST—(Special to The Eagle)—Don't forget that the W. M. S. bazaar is coming off Friday night, May 15th. A fine program is promised along with the sale of all kinds of useful and fancy articles. Also a nice lunch. The money goes for a good cause.

Tuesday the 2nd was clean-up day at the cemetery. The Mist Helping Circle composed of 25 ladies are surely doing good work and have volunteered to paint the new fence when the paint arrives. At their meeting Thursday it was voted to hire a care taker for the summer months to keep the fern down and keep the cemetery looking nice. Our next meeting will be the 4th Thursday with Mrs. A. Wallace.

J. O. Libel is doing some carpenter work in his residence.

Donald Sundland and Bernard Dowling spent Sunday at the beach.

Mrs. W. M. Garlock is staying at the Melis farm during the Melis' absence in California. They expect to be gone two or three weeks.

Mrs. Vernon Jamieson took her children to Vernonia Friday afternoon to the track meet.

Mrs. Austin Dowling and Bernard were visitors of the Jake Dowling family at Maygar.

Merle Jones and her sister, Jean, went out to the J. N. Miller home at Clatskanie for a few days visit with Malbra Miller.

Motorlogging Lincoln County Beaches

This newspaper is co-operating with the Oregon State Motor association and The Oregonian in sponsoring a series of motor cruises designed to stimulate travel throughout the Pacific northwest. The following article is condensed from a full-page article appearing in The Sunday Oregonian May 7.

There's a certain place in Oregon where the spectacle of miracle after miracle has given them the familiar quality of commonplace.

Not miracles worked by some agency of the supernatural, but miracles worked by man's inventive genius, the wonders brought about by smooth highways, by the restless urge of the American to go adventuring into new places.

To visit the scene of some of these wonders the motorlog automobile traveled over the Salmon River cutoff to the Pacific ocean beaches of north Lincoln county, where towns and resorts have risen like mushrooms within the past decade.

Here a once desolate expanse of seashore has become a gay, busy playground for thousands of Oregonians and their visitors from other states. Here, because this country is so new, a man may be an "old settler" and still be in the prime of life. He may be a pioneer and date his adventuring back but 20 years or even less.

Road's End at the north, then Wecoma beach, Brae Mar, Ocean Lake, De Lake, the summer homes along the shores of Devil's lake, Nelscott and Taft have a resident population of 3000 or more persons. The summer and holiday population will run into the thousands and endless parade of tourists up and down the Oregon Coast highway bring the region's visitors into the hundreds of outsiders.

South are Taft and Cutler City, Kernville, Gleneden, Lincoln beach, DePoe bay, all sharing this new prosperity and all owing their existence to the Oregon Coast highway.

While their popularity has spread through Oregon and up and down the Pacific coast, their fame has spread across the nation. DePoe bay, because of its picturesque beauty, the romance suggested by its rock-sheltered tiny harbor and fleet of trolling boats, has become a byword among travelers, a spot better known than some of the big harbors along the Pacific coast.

Taft has attracted nationwide fame with its annual Red Head round-up, a contest that attracts red-headed girls and boys, and brown-ups, too, from far and near.

So far it has been the only affair of its kind.

Another north Lincoln event that draws wide interest is the Devil's lake regatta, scheduled this year for June 24 and 25. Primarily an outboard motor session, the program has many variations that coax large crowds to the lake and nearby beaches.

To these two special attractions progressive north Lincoln has added a third this year, in a Rhododendron festival, slated to open on May 21 at about the time the coastal rhododendrons reach the full magnificence of bloom. The festival will continue from three to six weeks, depending on duration of the flower season.

Farm Security cooperators desiring assistance in planting their gardens may secure extension service and Department of Agriculture bulletins as well as other aid through the County Farm Security Administration office, Federal Building, Astoria.

Attend Game and Show—

Mr. and Mrs. John Grady and son and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wall and son were in Portland Sunday. The men attended the baseball game and Mrs. Grady and Mrs. Wall and the children attended a theatre showing.

Perhaps You Know of Cases Like This---

A woman had two tables of bridge one evening. Both the living room and library were well lighted for the occasion. The first thing the woman did, after the guests had gone, was to go about turning off the lights. The haste of the action amused her husband. He asked her why she was in such a hurry to turn off the lights.

"I hate to think of all the money these lamps are wasting," she confessed.

Being a man with a taste for facts, the husband took out his pencil and made some interesting calculations. Two packages of cigarettes for each table cost 60c. The cigars for the men, 5 for 15c, cost 75c. Two packs of cards at 50c each, cost $1.00. The light supper after the party cost $3.75 (with maybe a few drinks on top of that). Total $6.10 (without drinks). The man figured the cost of the current consumed during the entire evening. It amounted to less than the cost of one package of cigarettes.

Obviously, "To see well isn't a matter of cost." Are we kidding ourselves when we speak of the lighting cost?
