Evangelical Missionary Holds Novel Meeting—

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Evangelical church held its regular meeting at the church Wednesday of last week.

Devotions on the subject "Are You A Christian?" were led by Mrs. Boss.

Mrs. Estey reviewed the study chapter on the work in the Red Bird Missions in the mountains of Kentucky. A playlet written and directed by Mrs. Greenman illustrated the need of Lincoln pennies in the mission work.

During the business session a decision was made to hold a father and son banquet March 28th for which Art Kirkham, KOIN radio announcer, has been engaged as speaker.

Following the business session the ladies were invited to "come on in to supper". The room, lighted with kerosene lamps, was decorated with red birds and pussy willows in rustic baskets. On the table was a log cabin mountain home constructed by Mrs. Greenman and Mrs. Matthews.

The supper served by the Martha Circle, consisted of corn bread, sorgham molasses and beans. Water was served from the old waterpail with a leaky dipper.

Guests were all invited to "stay all night", but declined because of family duties to go to their homes.

The next meeting will be March 6th when missions in Europe will be studied.

Mrs. Spencer Entertains Birthday Club Monday—of the club with a gift. Ice cream, cookies and coffee were served at four o'clock.

Study Club Meets with Mrs. McCrae—

The Vernonia Study Club met February 8 at the home of Mrs. Wallace McCrae. After the dessert luncheon served by the hostess, each member responded to roll call by giving a new word, its meaning and its use in an original sentence.

During the business meeting it was decided to sponsor a movement for "a community center" where clothing and household articles may be stored and where people in need of them may call for them.

Mrs. E. M. Bollinger gave an interesting review of the book "The Brandons" by Angela Thirkell, a novel offering the particular kind of highly sensitive amusement one can get in the now infrequent drawing room comedy. It is a singularly attractive example of an older form of entertainment cunningly adapted to present mood. It makes no false appeal of any sort in relying upon the simple resources of clear humor and clear skill. Mrs. Ray Mills was critic.

The next meeting will be on February 22 at the home of Mrs. Hamp Roberson; Mrs. Judd Greenman will review "We Who Speak English" by Charles Allen Lloyd.

The Forum

To the Editor:

According to a recent bulletin published by the Oregon State College Experiment Station at Corvallis, there is now over 75 acres in experimental irrigated pasture, while 12 years ago there was less than an acre under irrigation. There are three departments at the Experiment Station cooperating in the development of irrigated pastures. According to the Station Bulletin, "The Value of Irrigated Pasture for Dairy Cattle" just published, it is pointed out that a five-year average yield from fertilized, irrigated pasture was equivalent to 6.4 tons of alfalfa hay, or 284 bushels of oats per acre. It is also pointed out in the bulletin that the use of fertilizer or irrigated pasture has been found to be absolutely essential for most profitable returns. The yield per acre fertilized with 300 pounds of superphosphate per acre is 75 per cent greater than on areas not fertilized.

The fertilizer experiments were carried out on a pasture of a little less than nine acres. Even with two acres left unfertilized, the area supplied 65 per cent of the nutrient requirements of more than 12 cows daily, which had an average production of 40 pounds of milk figured at 4 per cent butterfat.

Any farmer wishing to secure this bulletin may do so by writing to Oregon State College Experiment Station, Corvallis, Oregon.
