News of the Theatre

BRITISH QUEEN'S VISIT LEAVES ITS AFTERMATH

The influence of the recent visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth is seen on the screen for the first time in "Fast and Furious," at the Joy Theatre Saturday. Part of Ann Sothorn's wardrobe for this picture consists of a parasol modeled after the now-famous one carried by the British Queen throughout her trip. However, Miss Sothorn had one use for it probably never dreamed of by the Queen—the actress used it as a weapon against screen-husband Franchot Tone in a scene of domestic feuding.

Maureen O'Hara enacts the role of the gypsy girl and Sir Cedric Hardwicke that of the villain.

"THE CISCO KID AND THE LADY"

The newest adventure in the thrilling career of O. Henry's lovable outlaw, this 20th Century-Fox film can be recommended on several points, any one of which would make a film good entertainment. There's excitement—the stage coach robbed, a gold mine plundered and bad-men dying of pistol poisoning. There's romance—as Cisco might say: "To rob a bank or hold up a stagecoach is play for a child. But to make love to two serorritas: that is work for a man!" There's comedy—just accompany this smiling desperado on his hairbreadth escapes, chivalrous feats and private confabs with his henchman. Directed by Herbert I. Leeds, "The Cisco Kid and the Lady" opens Tuesday at the Joy Theatre.

HIGGINS FILM TRUE TO LIFE

If there are people in this town who think they have family troubles, let them drop down to the Joy Theatre and see Republic's "My Wife's Relatives," which depicts new adventures of the Higgins Menage.

The antics of this screen family are side-splitting, but when taken seriously, are rather true-to-life. James Gleason, the head of the family, bears the brunt of his brood's troubles. His wife, Lil, played by his real-life partner, Lucile Gleason, tries earnestly to help her husband, but has the knack of making situations worse than they were originally.

By EARL SNELL, Secretary of State

Oregon motorists effected a reduction in every phase of traffic accidents for the month of January, 1940, as compared to the same month in 1939, it was announced today by Earl Snell, secretary of state.

Deaths were reduced ten percent injuries were cut eight percent and the total number of accidents was one less than for the corresponding month in 1939.

Rural highways continued to be the scene of many traffic fatalities with 50 percent of the fatal accidents reported from the highways outside metropolitan areas. There were nine fatal crashes on these roads, seven in residential and open areas in cities and two in business districts. Forty-four percent of the total crashes occurred in business districts, however, illustrating the trend for the more serious accidents outside business areas, according to Snell.

While 47 percent of all accidents occurred at intersections, by far the great majority of fatal accidents occurred on straight-aways, the month's figures showed.

Crashes involving two cars accounted for but one of the 18 deaths during the month. Pedestrian accidents brought 12 deaths, 66 percent, while the following accidents caused one death each: car-train, car-bicycle, car-street car, car-fixed object collision, non-collision.

"Those who commonly think of the fatal accident as involving the crash of two or more automobiles, will do well to study these figures and realize their significance," Snell declared. "We must place increasing emphasis on avoiding the non-collision crash, the collision with fixed objects and the pedestrian accidents if we are to reduce our traffic toll."

Let GARLIC Help Fight Harmful Colon Bacterial!
Combat Intestinal Poisoning that may be causing your Biliaryness, Dizzy Spells, Headaches, Tired Feeling
If you are one of the many folks that feel "punky" much of the time and suffer from little aches and pains, biliousness, headaches, fatigue, "furry" tongue, and even foul breath, we want you to know that very often these conditions are due to the activity of harmful bacteria in the colon. These bacteria attack food wastes and often produce poisons that are absorbed by the body and so cause many very distressing conditions. It is hard to kill these bacteria in the colon. Powerful drugs that might kill them may also hurt you if taken internally. However, if you just "slow down" the activity of these harmful bacteria that cause putrefaction, nature will be given a chance to set things right again.
Here's a marvelously simple way of combating intestinal putrefaction that's proven to be effective in so many, many cases. Best of all, it doesn't call for the use of harmful laxatives or drugs. Modern science now says that extract or concentrate of GARLIC gives valuable help to the colon in its fight against these poison-producing bacteria. If you feel "half dead" much of the time, have minor aches and pains, headaches, dizziness, or foul breath, it might well be that intestinal putrefaction is at the bottom of it. Why suffer? DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT. If you suffer aches, pains, headaches, dizziness and fatigue, why not do as so many other folks are today doing. Try GARLIC Concentrate for your troubles.
