Game Animals On Increase Census Shows

Mild Winter Made Close Count of Deer, Elk Difficult

The new game census shows increases in most of the game animals in Washington and Oregon, according to L. H. Douglas, assistant regional forester in charge of wildlife and range management. Douglas said that the mild winter made a close count of the deer and elk difficult in some places. The deep snow that ordinarily concentrates these animals onto smaller range areas where they can be counted with some accuracy did not occur. Elk have not only increased in numbers but have spread into new range. They are found on every Oregon forest except the Umpqua and Fremont, and every Washington forest except the Colville, Chelan and Mount Baker. The mule deer increase probably exceeded the number killed. The Maheur and Fremont ranges are overpopulated, the Deschutes understocked.

The antelope herd increased rapidly both on the national forests and on the range outside. The State of Washington has made a plant of 23 head. The Biological Survey planted 24 head of Rocky Mountain sheep on the Hart Mountain antelope reserve. This is considered first class highborn range, according to the Biological Survey.

Blacktail deer may have increased slightly, but a good estimate is hard to make. They are scattered and live in dense cover. Predatory animals and poachers keep the number down, Douglas said.

4-H Summer Session Date Set

June 10-21 Set for Annual Affair at Oregon State College

June 10-21 are the dates picked for the annual 4-H club summer session at Oregon State College. Close to 2,000 4-H club members and leaders are expected for a two weeks session of combined class work and recreation.

An increased number of scholarships have been offered throughout the county the past year by various civic, farmers' organizations, and businessmen's concerns. All first prize winners of last year's state fair will also be included in those who have won free scholarships.

Many communities are sponsoring scholarships for 4-H club members in Columbia county. The first community and school to turn in the school's restoration for summer school was Mrs. Azelie Duke's Health Club of Neer City.

According to tentative enrollment, there will be close to thirty-five members in Home Economics clubs that will attend 4-H club summer school.

Mrs. Anna Grim of South Scappoose will be one of the teachers at the 4-H club summer school and will teach metal craft. Mrs. Otto Lange of South Scappoose and Mrs. Azelie Duke of Neer City will teach basketry.

According to Mrs. Maud C. Purvine, Home Demonstration Agent, the requirements for summer school is that boys and girls are enrolled in 4-H club work and have completed their work. Those who have not completed their work must have a satisfactory standing and all must be at least twelve years of age.

EMMA WEED TALKS TO PUPILS; QUILTING CLUB MEETS

TREHARNE—(Special to The Eagle)—In response to an invitation given by the pupils in Mr. Sehorn's room, Mrs. Emma Weed gave a highly informative and interesting resume of upper Nehalem Valley life from the time of the first settlers to the present time. For forty-five minutes Mrs. Weed's audience was held entranced by her vivid description. The high lights in her story ranged from the time when the only artery of travel from this valley to the outside world was a trail which was scarcely passable, to the highways of today over which we travel in one hour the same distance that required at least two days when Mrs. Weed came into this valley. The most difficult part for the students to realize seemed to be that there were no cleared land, no houses, stores, roads, telephones, railroads, mail service, schools and above all, no hostile Indians. The story was spiced with daring stories of those who possessed the true pioneer spirit, always pressing forward, westward, to new homes and farms from the forests, advancing the American spirit and through their constant struggle making this nation of ours a better land in which to live.

During the past week Mr. E. L. Sehorn, teacher of Pleasant Hill School, organized a 4-H Hobby Club in archery. The club has been named, Alibi Archers. At present the Alibi Archers are leading in a mail order tournament with Hazel Dale school at Vancouver, Washington. Last week the score was 944 to 986 for the local team. Their score to be submitted this week is 1079. These scores were shot by the following persons in six ends at 20 yards: Walter Cody, 288; Ralph Roediger, 276; Myrtle Webb, 262; Jack Frisbie, 253. The total possible score per contestant is 324.

The Handicraft Club met at the home of Mrs. Clyde Carrick Wednesday afternoon.

The 13th birthday of Frances Carrick was celebrated with a party Sunday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock. Those present were: Jean McDonald, Bernice Borton, Delores Bergstrom, Ruby Thacker, Ella Borton, Opal Carrick, James Johns, Eugene Murphy, Jack Frisbie, and Walter Cody. Refreshments of jello and cake were served.

Lovat Davidson of Helvetia, brother of Mrs. Schram, visited at the Schram home Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Thomas of Vernonia visited at the Garland Seger home Sunday.

Several families took children of pre-school age to the school where diphtheria vaccine was given by Dr. Eby last Wednesday.

Mrs. Nelson Mochler entertained the Quilting Club at her home last Thursday. Mrs. Floyd Thomas was a guest of the club for the day. A delicious potluck dinner was served by the hostess.

Hulan and Wilbur Thacker spent the week-end with their families, returning to Idanha Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Garland Seger, Mrs. Elizabeth Mullins and Ervin Mullins were Portland business visitors Saturday. They also visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Trout in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. William Falconer and Mrs. Nell Thacker motored to Portland Saturday on business and to see their brother, Otto Stowell, who is in the Emanuel hospital.
