Post Office Loses, Wins

One loss and a win was the result of the last two bowling meets for the Post Office, the loss being suffered at the hands of the Town Team last Wednesday evening and the win being made over Sam and Bob Monday evening. The Town Team won by a score of 1573 to 1510, both scores being the total pins for the three games of the evening. Hal Fowler was high pin man for the post office with 332 and Harold Howard for the Town Team with 352.

Sam and Bob lost to the postmen Monday by 1466 to 1630. High man for the losers was Ed Horn with 336 and high for the Post Office was Hal Fowler with 382.

Gunmen Go to Portland Fri.

Members of the Vernonia Gun Club will go to Portland this Friday evening to engage in the third rifle match of this round. Hill Military Academy will provide competition which will take place on their range.

The Vernonia club so far has suffered two defeats but have hopes of winning Friday evening. Ten "shots" turned out for practice at the local range Tuesday evening.

Low gasoline mileage is not always caused by faulty carburation, according to the emergency road service of the Oregon State Motor association. Some of the more common causes of low mileage are: under-inflated tires; dragging brakes; faulty ignition, poor compression; clogged carburetor screen, and incorrect spark gap.

Strange Contest Will Be Seen Monday, Feb. 3, at Washington Grade School

Who ever heard of donkeys on a basketball floor? Sounds like a wild dream, but next Monday night 15 circus-trained donkeys will wheel, prance, and do everything but stand on their heads on the gym floor at the Washington grade school.

Jack Bartlett, star of radio and screen, is bringing his famed troupe of animals to Vernonia and astride the backs of the buckin' beasts will be local millworkers, business men, and teachers, engaged in a brand of hoop shooting that promises to produce a lot of fun.

Teachers Sponsor

The game, if it can be called that, is being sponsored by the Vernonia teachers. The fun starts at 8 o'clock. Who are the riders of Bartlett's donkeys? Well, they haven't been announced as yet, but indications are that some of Vernonia's leading citizens will make a stab at outwitting the braying, swaying brutes.

Holly Holcomb and Ed Carter of the Oregon-American mill have promised that a bunch of the ridinest lumber shufflers in the West will emerge from the confines of the O-A plant to pot baskets Monday night—if the teachers and business men of Vernonia headed by Paul Gordon, and the donks don't throw a hoof into their plans.

Donkeys Protest
Referee and trainer will be Happy Wamack, an Osage Indian, whose decisions on the floor, they say, are often protested vigorously by the donkeys themselves.

Bartlett's animals are known throughout the nation. They strutted in Madison Square garden in New York City, they tromped the maple floors in the leading high schools and college gyms in the mid-west, they brayed and butted before standing-room-only crowds of soldiers last month at Fort Lewis, and are now playing before Oregon fans in the school gyms of this state.

No, they won't scuff the slick basketball floor in the Washington grade school gym, because they're fitted out with the latest of donkey basketball shoes, and have given the board of directors a guarantee that the floor will be left in perfect condition.

Do the donkeys wear basketball trunks too? Well, now—

... but teachers called him SLOW

... until he got better light

LIGHT CONDITION NOW and help your child's eyes and grades

● He may be a whiz on the football field, but studying lessons is different. It requires good light for easy seeing.

A poor report card may be merely an indication of eyestrain. Why take a chance with your child's eyesight? One easy way to provide good light is with a Certified I.E.S. lamp equipped with at least a 100-watt bulb. Incidentally, you'll find better light helpful yourself. Try it and you'll want to give it to the whole family!

Certified I.E.S. lamps are built to help guard eyesight . . . to give a wide spread of soft, glareless light that helps to make homework or any close seeing easier.

Be sure you have the right size bulb in every socket, too. Get spares so you'll always have better light.
