Howard Lee Invents Game

Howard Lee is advertising Vernonia again. In the latest Collier's in an article "Our New Army" in which high lights from the new American Army camps is given, Lee is mentioned for the invention of a game called "Blitzkrieg". The game has pawns, representing soldiers and war equipment, made of soap; the four persons who play are mythical nations, Vernonia, Hati, Gillopa and Eeland. The idea is to move across squares representing waterworks, factories, airports, taking out the enemy as in chess. The goal is the enemy capital in the center of the board.

Industry has developed brakes for the modern car that are five times more powerful than the average auto engine.

WITH THE LAWMAKERS
which closed debate.

Mr. Monroe Sweetland, the big noise in the Oregon Commonwealth Federation, is trying to run the Democratic party, so the Democrats say. Sweetland got in plenty Dutch with the war-horse Democrats last election when he almost put over a Republican for Oregon's choice as vice-president on the Democratic ticket. Imagine that. Then another one he pulled was urging the precinct committeemen to repudiate the regularly nominated Democratic candidates for office unless they passed inspection by his Commonwealth organization. Yes, indeed, the ambitious Mr. Sweetland is as welcome to real Democrats as a good case of small pox. His political activities appeared so queer to the American Federation of Labor that one of its unions demanded and received his resignation. At their state convention a year or so ago the Commonwealthers by the very close margin of two or three votes passed a resolution condemning the communist party and Soviet Russia. Rumor has it that Mr. Sweetland has been sore ever since.

Observations — The lawmakers really miss the capable Major Babcock of Pendleton, who passed away last week . . . Howard Latourette, Democratic national committeeman, talks a little politics with the boys; of Moro, who knows what it's all some say he will be a candidate about, holds many hurdles with the for governor . . . Rep. Giles French lawmakers from eastern Oregon.
