

Mrs. America Meets the War

Saturday night baths or blue Monday wash days won't cost Mrs. America any more in the future than right now because the OPA is keeping soap prices from slipping out of hand. The new regulation was prompted because it is difficult for most consumers to distinguish small variations in the size of soap bars or packages of soap powder since the weight and quality is not marked on most bars. It is the first OPA regulation dealing exclusively with standards of quality and quantity. So you'll be getting your money's worth for every purchase of household soap—toilet laundry, flake, chip or granule.

Cheese sandwiches appeared to be doomed a year ago because it was doubtful whether we would have enough cheese to go around for our Allies and for lavish home use. But now there's plenty of cheese for American tables as well as for our lease-lend needs. That makes it an opportune time to take advantage of the abundance of cheese because it's a nourishing food at low cost. The OPA consumer division declares that the housewife who buys food when it is plentiful rather than using foods limited in supply is helping the war effort. So start planning menus that call for cheese and more cheese.

There may not be as many "Anna Held" bathers this year because the WPB cosmetic order cuts down on the amount of "bath milk" that can be produced. However, there certainly shouldn't be any shiny noses for the duration because there ought to be just as much face powder available in shops as there was in 1941. The same is true of lipstick, mascara, and bath salts. The producers may manufac-

FIGHTERS ON THE LUMBER FRONT

(1) Each American fighting man requires the work of ten in war supply and production, and the people of the West Coast woods and mills are in the front rank of the ten. Above, a head sawyer and log-carriage crew start the process of producing decking lumber for fighting ships.

(2) Ship decking, long clear lumber of highest grade, cut, dressed and kiln-dried on rigid specifications, is carefully loaded for shipment by rugged men skilled by long training.

(3) Young women are now generally employed in the lighter work of the West Coast lumber industry. These two ladies of the woods are bundling short lengths that may be used in war industry housing. Practically every element of the war effort needs some sort of lumber.

ture the same quantity as in 1941, but the number of marketable units are to be cut down so it looks as if you'll be buying cosmetics and toiletries in larger packages. That will help save precious container materials.

Summertime is not the season that makes Mrs. America think about keeping the home fires burning. But the Office of Defense Transportation has been doing some worrying about a possible bottleneck in deliveries of fuel next fall. You can be assured of sufficient coal and wood next winter when the cold winds blow by ordering it from your dealer now and storing it for later use.

Cupid may be taking quite a setback through a revision of the fire rationing regulations of the OPA. Flowers and candy probably won't be sent right out to the best girl friend as they used to be because privately operated trucks carrying these articles will not be entitled to new or recapped tires after July 26. Neither will tires go to trucks that deliver radios, furs, jewelry, or other "luxury" goods—that is, unless their transportation is only incidental to the main service performed by the delivery truck.

Go light on your luggage when you're traveling by train these days. Limit yourself to one bag wherever possible in the passenger car, and check whatever extra you have. Because of the crowded conditions of coaches and pullman cars, extra baggage is difficult to handle.

If your electric range is no longer usable and cannot be repaired, you stand a chance of buying one of the last 45,000 electric ranges in the country. Likewise before these stoves were frozen in the hands of dealers, distributors, and manufacturers, if you had your home wired for installing a range and you have no other cooking equipment available, you should qualify for one. If you are in either classification, you must certify to it in writing to your dealer. The ranges now offered to Mrs. America represent the total available. That's all there is—there won't be any more because production has been stopped for the duration.

It is estimated that the keeper of the family purse—Mrs. America and her sisters will have an extra thirty billion dollars more income in 1943 than the value of things for which that money can be spent. That might lead to inflation. The government experts' answer for the prudent and patriotic is: "Share the cost of war through taxation, pay your debts and put the balance in war bonds and stamps to help pay the cost of the war and to accumulate savings that you will need when the war is over."

Wartime difficulties of importing fish liver oils from Norway won't keep your son in Uncle Sam's air corps from getting the vitamin A he needs to increase his night vision. California fishermen are bringing in valuable shark livers which produce an oil with thirty times the potency of cod liver oil. Likewise the new California shark liver industry is helping fill Lend-Lease shipments to Britain where this oil is used to enrich margarine. Incidentally, this also means a new source of shark fins for Chinese restaurants to use in shark fin soup.

Stenographers Still Needed

The United States Civil Service Commission still needs stenographers for service in Washington, D. C. The requirements for Junior Stenographers are the ability to take dictation at 96 words a minute on fairly simple material, be a citizen of the United States, and in good health. Girls who will have reached their 18th birthday by October 1 are eligible, and 70 has been set as the maximum age limit. The salary is $1440 a year. Appointments follow almost immediately for those who qualify.

Examinations in Portland are being given, for the time being, every Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in Room 303, Main Post Office Building, Broadway and Glisan. Applicants must furnish their own typewriters, which they may rent from any company for a small fee, usually $2. Examinations are given outside of Portland under the supervision of all first and second-class post offices, and applicants should file their application forms there to be notified as to the time of the next examination in those districts.

There are several agencies in Washington which have been set up for the sole purpose of helping new arrivals in the city secure suitable living accommodations. They have lists of the rooms and apartments that are available each day, the cost, etc.

When the Marines get their service pack, there is included therein a bright shiny new shovel cased in a muslin carrier. The shovel costs 68 cents and the carrier 39 cents, or $1.07 for the ensemble.

These trenching shovels are used by the Marines around camp, digging trenches, setting up barbed wire entanglements and in many other ways. Your purchase of War Bonds and Stamps every pay day can readily equip our forces with these necessary implements for warfare. Invest at least ten percent of your income every pay day. Buy War Bonds and Stamps from your bank, your postoffice and at retail stores.

Tractors and motors will never wholly replace the Army Mule as a factor in the mobile units of our army. The Army Mule is a tradition and the "mule skinner" is a breed unto himself. Army Mules are used by the Field Artillery and the Cavalry in areas where the terrain is rough and tractors cannot operate.

Pack trains in mountainous sectors are often necessary and here the mule, slow but sure-footed, plays an important role. Our Army buys thousands of mules paying from $175 to $190 for each. The mule eats less, carries more, and some declare is smarter than the horse. Your purchase of War Bonds and Stamps helps pay for these Army Mules. Invest at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every pay day.
