War Time Food Program to Start

Western homemakers will be exposed to an intensive educational program on wartime food next month when the nationwide food fights for freedom campaign is inaugurated, according to western campaign spokesmen.

Through the medium of newspapers, radio and magazines the facts of today's food situation will be told to the nation. Through volunteer community committees these facts will be carried and personally explained in the home. Nutrition pamphlets will also be distributed in the home-to-home canvass. Through the wholesale and retail food trades 30 million kitchen "pin-ups" containing eleven food questions will be distributed to consumers.

The campaign is sponsored by business, government and community groups in the interest of complete public understanding of the wartime job of food and the need for everyone to produce, conserve, share and play square.

The government agencies involved include the office of war information, the war food administration, the office of civilian defense and the office of price administration.

Campaign Planned

On the community side the local defense councils and their information, consumer and nutrition committees as well as community service members of war price and rationing boards—all volunteer workers on wartime problems—are organizing to do the personalized education job in their communities.

Through the war advertising council, advertising agencies, national advertisers and food processors, wholesalers and retailers have combined to prepare a complete advertising campaign for newspapers, magazines, radio as well as merchandising display material for retailers.

"One of the objectives of the campaign will be to spike the many rumors concerning wartime usage of our food supply," said Maurice W. Heaton, president of the Pacific Advertising association. "Our association is volunteering its services in organizing for the war advertising council, the advertising interest throughout the West so that the printed work will effectively back up the personalized community work."

Withholding Tax Returns Due Now

J. W. Maloney, collector of internal revenue, Wednesday called to the attention of all employers who are required to withhold income tax from the wages of their employees that the returns of this tax are now due and must be filed with the office of the collector of internal revenue, Portland, Oregon, not later than October 31, 1943.

Mr. Maloney said that unusually severe penalties are imposed under this new act for any failure to file the return in time to reach the collector's office within the time specified above. There is a minimum addition to the tax of $20 for failure to file return and pay tax when due. Collector Maloney urges employers to avoid this penalty by mailing their returns in time to reach his office not later than October 31.

Sawdust...

Some hunters reports have been very good... some report bad news... or maybe they are excuses... Paul Gordon is still limping as the result of a fall while hunting... Blaine Cobat goes out to hunt nearly every evening and returns with nothing... Jimmie Davies has graduated from crutches to a cane... Yes it rained last week and Dan Cason was glad as he was complaining about having to haul wood... and then it rained and he didn't have to haul.

Pressure Cookers Release Increased

With increased supplies of pressure canners now available, the war food administration has relaxed its rationing regulations to facilitate the purchase of pressure canners by individuals and groups for home food processing.

Under the liberalized regulations now used by the local agricultural war boards, group use of all canners is no longer a prime requisite for eligibility to purchase and the canners may be bought for individual home use. Persons who need pressure canners may apply directly to Mrs. Maud C. Casswell, home demonstration agent or to the local county farm rationing committee at St. Helens, for a certificate of eligibility or ask that previously filed applications be reviewed under the new rulings.

Greater freedom of purchase is also given. Certificate holders may now buy from any dealer who has pressure canners. Previously the applicant had to locate a canner for sale before the application to purchase was approved. Both 7-quart and 14-quart canners are available under the relaxed regulations. The supply of 14-quart canners is somewhat limited, however.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"You were absolutely correct in making the statement you did, George...not a drop of whiskey has been distilled in this country in over a year."

"That's what I told the boys down at the lodge, Judge, but they were so surprised I thought maybe I was wrong."

"No you weren't, George. The truth of the matter is that a year before Pearl Harbor, the beverage distilling industry voluntarily offered its facilities to the government. Many companies started to produce alcohol for war purposes almost immediately. And just as soon as the government's requirements increased, the distilling facilities of the entire industry were converted 100% to the production of war-alcohol and nothing else. As a matter of fact, the beverage distilling industry is producing about half of the government's needs for this vital war material. And that's a 24 hour a day, 7 day a week job, George."

"I'm glad I told you about my talk with Sam, Judge. You've given me a lot more facts on that subject."
