

Definite Purpose of Health Association Explained

Remarks Monday evening following the meeting of the Columbia county public health association brought out the fact that many people present were not informed as to the association's work and purpose. Probably the most commonly mistaken idea is that the association is not a part of the Red Cross. That error was corrected for those present by an explanation by Mrs. Sadie Orr Dunbar, who told of the organization and its accomplishment.

Tuberculosis was at one time the most destructive disease of human life but due to money derived from Christmas Seal sales and the uses to which that money has been put, tuberculosis has now dropped to seventh place, six other diseases being more destructive.

Many people have purchased Christmas Seals in past years but have not known the definite purpose to which those seals are devoted. Learning that purpose and the advancement made makes the purchase of seals a welcome duty.

Save Your Waste Paper

Although no move has been taken here for the collection of waste paper which is vitally needed for production of packing cases, home owners are urged to save newspapers and magazines for a collection which will be made by J. R. Lee.

Waste paper is now considered one of the vital needs for the manufacture of items such as packing cases and wrapping paper which can be used for the transport of war supplies. No collection has been made here for some time and most homes probably have a considerable supply of paper on hand that could be tied and made ready for the collection.

Mr. Lee will collect the paper on his weekly house-to-house tour for the collection of garbage. Those having paper can help the war effort a lot by placing it where he can get it at those times.

SCHOOLS OF CITY SHOW BIG GAINS

HILLSBORO — The union high and grade schools show a substantial increase in enrollment with the opening of the new term, according to school officials.

Union high school has 700 students enrolled as against 670 for the same period in 1943. Hillsboro's three grade schools had a total of 761 students enrolled in contrast with 732 a year ago.

CANDIDATE NUMBER NIL

FOREST GROVE — Voters will have to follow the example of the republican and democratic conventions this year and draft candidates.

With September 18 at 5 p.m. as the final date for filling of petitions for candidates for mayor for a term of two years and three members of the council for four years, there has been no action taken to date. The city hall reports that there has not been a single request for a petition as yet.

SOLDIERS SEND FOR BALLOTS

TILLAMOOK — Inquiry at the county clerk's office reveals the fact that to date, 232 absent voters, most of them soldiers, have written in for absent voters ballots. Envelopes are ready to send them to the soldiers in time for their return to the United States. Every day, 25 or 30 requests come to the clerk's office through the postoffice, so the number is expected to reach 300 or more in Tillamook county.

LARGE WASTE PAPER TONNAGE RETRIEVED

HILLSBORO — Approximately 25 tons of waste paper was brought in Saturday of last week as Hillsboro's part to help relieve the nation's No. 1 salvage problem, according to County Chairman W. G. Ide of Hillsboro.

A special drive is planned for local business houses this week when each one will be contacted in an effort to clean up every possible source of waste paper including old newspapers, magazines, books and cartons.

Washington Snapshots

Farmer and housewives are beneficiaries of early reconversion efforts. The WPB announces that farm machinery with a total value of $73,595,553 was produced during July. WPB also lifted restrictions which have been standardizing types of domestic cooking appliances and heating stoves.

In a case involving a pay raise of three cents an hour for 650 employes of the Acme Rubber Co., Trenton, N.J., the majority of the WLB ruled that consideration of the employer's financial position "would make a nullity of the Congressional wage policy." Industry members of WLB dissented.

Apparently intent upon ridding business and industry of government controls as quickly as possible after peace comes, the House Ways and Means Committee has decided tentatively to limit to one year the reconversion machinery now being set up by Congress.

Sentiment in favor of disposing of surplus war property thru commercial channels instead of directly to consumers is growing stronger in Congress. The House has tentatively assented an amendment to the disposal bill to make it mandatory to dispose of such government property thru commercial channels.

MORE WOOD THAN COTTON

More new wood than cotton is grown in the South each year.

KID SALVAGE

OUT OF THE WOODS

Jeep Sawmill . . .

After forty years of seeing near-miracles wrought by loggers and sawmill men in improvising various items of power production in woods and mills, I ought to be past amazement by same. But here I am, bugged again at the ingenuity of the timber mechanic, after a visit to a two-man sawmill that can cut 4000 board feet in eight hours. Generally Fritz Pearson and Paul Barlow, the owners and operators, get along on 3,000 feet per day, for they are men who expect something from life besides backaches and spondulicks.

As a key to what I mean, the power plant of the Pearson Mill Company is a Cadillac motor, while the log carriage is controlled through a Model T Ford transmission. You know the sleepy crawl of the usual little mill carriage. This one, you'd think it had a shotgun feed. Yet the cutting is precise lumber manufacture. The big motor has an overflow of power. Another gas engine snakes the little logs up from the pond, and yet another operates a small cutoff saw.

There is the cutest conveyer you ever did see, which elevates the sawdust to a bin set for filling fuel trucks. And yet more contrivances and gadgets. Pretty soon partners Pearson and Barlow will have a crane for loading their lumber truck, and an edger. More fun! A jeep sawmill, and in its way as wonderful as the Army's jeep.

"Haywire Hill" . . . The loggin' show was a quarter-mile up the canyon, centering on a mountain-side of prime second growth. The rings on the biggest sticks decked at the landing showed an age of 68 years. Most of the round stuff was younger and smaller, with size and quality demonstrating that marketable timber can now be grown within 50 to 60 years. The humidity was pretty low, so the outfit wasn't logging the day I was up. I hope to see it working some time. The spar tree, one of the 68-year-olds in the stand, was at least 125 feet tall. The donkey at its base was powered by a Studebaker truck motor (no advertising intended). The setting looked fit for cleaning up the whole mountain which was called—I wonder why—"Haywire Hill."

There you have the Douglas fir lumber operation of the future. There are ten thousand like it in the Southern pine states. A Program Needed . . . The portable and other small sawmills of today are but little improved over those I chored around as a boy in the maples and oaks of southern Iowa. I've seen hundreds, but never one with the efficiency of the home designed and home made rig of the Pearson Mill Company—one in which gadgets reduce strong-arm labor to a trifle. Surely the industrial brains that produced the military jeep can produce a stander jeep sawmill as efficient as Fritz Pearson's.

Logging rigs for use in second growth might be produced, too, it seems to me, at a cost that would make them available to the mass market of gyppo loggers. Most of all, surveys and studies are needed in the Douglas fir region on all angles of the utilization of second growth in accordance with forestry principles; on the planning of such operations; on their relation to the concentration yard and re-manufacturing plant of the times to come.

The war lumber market has revived the small sawmill. It has also caused over-cutting in our second growth of sawtimber sizes. There are problems in the field that really need looking after rich now, aside from the planning for the day when supplies for the forest industries will be mainly in the second-growth forests.

Supper is on. Up you go kiddies and Dad jumps them into their chairs. After the meal, Dad puts them to bed. Now comes a pillow fight or a story or is it a romp? Whatever it is, they get fat on it. And all day long, they feast on Mother's love without knowing how much.

It was even so in the days when Christ walked among men. The big folks brought up the needfuls and the kiddies just knew that all things would be provided. Christ's alert eye took it all in and He used it to show God as the Great Giver and that we are to open our hearts and receive of his vast plenty.

FIRST—God cleared the way from heaven down to earth. All hate, spite, lies, unfit thought and deeds, and smut and sneaking, he put on Christ. The Lord hath laid on him the indignity of us all—Bible. Iniquity—Any wrong, whether or not, there is a law against it.

NEXT—With sins blotted out, God imparts his own life. This is the new birth. Said the grade school boy, next morning after he had received Christ as Savior—If there is anything in this new life, let God now take away my eyes and swearing. And Christ was there to do it. That was forty years ago and oaths and a lot more have been out to this day.

THREE—But God has still more. It is your destiny out in eternity. On resurrection morn, you are raised from the grave and receive your body of glory. We have a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens—Bible. In the ages to come, God is to show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness to us through Jesus.

BIBLE MILLENNIUM - Part 2

We will now consider what happens to the wicked dead and the wicked living, at the second coming of Christ; the two statements of scripture: "Blessed and holy is he that hath part in the first resurrection, on such the second death hath no power. . . "Rev.20:6. and "the dead in Christ shall rise first" 1 Thess. 4:16. last part of verse, imply with a certainty that those who do not rise in the first resurrection, are none other than the wicked dead.

In Rev. 20:4, we are told that the righteous dead are raised and reign with Christ a thousand years; the very next verse, (verse 5) reads: "But the rest of the dead lived not again until the thousand years were finished."

Here then is where we find the Bible Millennium; a thousand years between the first and second resurrections; or in other words, between the resurrection of the righteous dead, and the resurrection of the wicked dead. We now have shown that the righteous living, and the righteous dead who are raised when Christ comes, go with him to heaven; the wicked dead remain in their graves for one thousand years.

We will now turn our attention to the wicked who are living on the earth when Christ comes: here are the words of Christ himself in Luke 17:26-30. "And as it was in the days of Noah, so shall it be also in the days of the son of man. They did eat, they drank, they married wives, they were given in marriage, until the day that Noah entered into the ark, and the flood came, and destroyed them all. Likewise also as it was in the days of Lot; they did eat, they drank, they bought, they sold, they planted, they builded; but the same day that Lot went out of Sodom it rained fire and brimstone from heaven, and destroyed them all. Even thus shall it be in the day when the Son of man is revealed. This same revealing is brought to view in 2 Thess. 1:7-9. read it please.

Now a few more scriptures to prove the utter destruction of the wicked who are living on the earth when Christ comes the second time: 2 Thess. 2:8. "And then shall that wicked be revealed, whom the Lord shall consume with the spirit of His mouth, and shall destroy with the brightness of His coming."

Zeph. 1:2,3. "I will utterly consume all things from off the land, saith the Lord. I will consume man and beast; I will consume the fowls of the heavens, and the fishes of the sea, and the stumbling blocks with the wicked; and I will cut off man from off the land saith the Lord."

Isa. 13:9. "Behold the day of the Lord cometh, cruel both with wrath and fierce anger, to lay the land desolat; and he shall destroy the sinners thereof out of it."

Jer. 4:23-26. "I beheld the earth and lo, it was without form and void; and the heavens they had no light. I beheld the mountains, and lo, they trembled, and all the hills moved lightly. I beheld, and lo, THREE WAS NO MAN, and all the birds of the heavens were fled. I beheld, and lo, the fruitful place was a wilderness, and all the cities thereof were broken down at the presence of the Lord, and by his fierce anger."

These plain and forceful texts prove conclusively the destruction of the wicked at the second coming of Christ. In our next installment we will know of the condition of the earth during the thousand years, and the binding of Satan for the same length of time. Let us now take time to reflect on the beauty and harmony of the Bible, when we follow the divine plan of letting one scripture interpret another; throwing into the discard the preconceived idea and the wish that is father to the thought.

CYCLE DETERMINED

Timber cruising, the systematic determination of the volume of wood in a forest, is also used to find the harvesting cycle which will insure continuous yield from a stand of timber.

On the beaches of Italy, in the jungles of the Pacific—planes, tanks, artillery must move—and fast; no waiting to build roads or airfields. That's when our soldiers must unroll these "steel mattresses," as you see them in this photo. Your War Bonds pay for them.
