POETRY

TO MRS. ROOSEVELT
May there never be
A lonely hour; a lonely day
For our beloved first lady
Whose President went away

Across the river Jordan
The sea of Galilee;
To the Yalta Conference
For America and for me

May there always be a rainbow
Above in Washington square;
For Eleanor and her children
And grand-children there

May the cherry blossoms bloom
More spiritual every year;
As the passing days bring Memories of a President near

May the ships that's half mast
Hoist their banners to the sky;
In honor of President Roosevelt
And where great men lie

Twelve years of service
Tired, worn with care;
He never failed his country
Nor the boys over there

President Roosevelt stood at the helm
Till the very last;
When his ship went down
The flags at half mast.
