Auto Parts Are Plentiful--WAA

Critically - needed automotive parts and garage equipment are literally pouring into this area by the carload since the Portland war assets automotive division took over direct sales for this region recently.

During July sales to wholesalers, garages, parts dealers and fleet operators amounted to $600,000 and August sales are expected to be higher. WAA maintains in Detroit a centralized inventory record of all substantial quantities of items, regardless of their physical location, so that an order placed with the Portland office gives a complete check of the national supply. Small quantities and used surplus will be sold direct by the Portland office, however, if it is located here.

Interested parties may reach the Portland office by writing to: War Assets Administration, P.O. Box 4062, Portland 8, Oregon.

The national inventory is approximately $300,000,000 and new quantities are being added daily. It is broken down into five general classifications: Automotive spare parts, automotive and repair equipment, tire and tube equipment, lubrication equipment, and automotive machine shop equipment.

According to E. L. Smith, chief of the automotive division, current orders are arriving in about 30 days and are about 85 per cent complete. WAA allows trade discounts, prefers to sell on approved credit, and includes in each catalog every detail of information a buyer needs to write out an order.

An aluminum non-sinkable boat, 12 feet long, weighing 150 pounds, is a Kentucky manufacturer's contribution.
