

Rehabilitation Of Toll Lines In Progress

Early Completion To Improve Local Service-Barber

General rehabilitation of toll lines between Vernonia and Forest Grove is now in progress according to word received vesterday from Harley Barber, district manager of the West Coast Telephone company. This work should be completed early in December according to Mr. Barber. It will greatly increase the efficiency of long distance calling in the area. Reconstruction of urban lines in conjunction with the West Oregon Electric Cooperative, Inc., is also in progress.

Local and long-distance service in Vernonia has improved greatly in the past 30 days, said Barber, and will improve steadily as more materials and equipment become available. A system-wide expansion program of over five and a million dollars has been scheduled by the telephone company, but many phases of this work are being delayed due to shortages of materials.

"There are still 41 unfilled orders for telephone service in the Vernonia exchange," said Barber. "Since V-J day we have been able to get telephone instruments for only 25 per cent of our total or-Other shortages such as cable, lead, copper wire, central office equipment, etc., also have slowed down the progress of our expansion.

"The West Coast Telephone company is doing everything nossible to restore its service to its high pre-war levels. It has taken us much longer than we anticipated to obtain equipment and supplies, and many vital items are still difficult or impossible to secure. We will continue, however, to make every effort to speed up our expansion and service-improving program."

Loggers Win 1st Court Try

Coach Hergert's Loggers captured their first court win of the season Tuesday evening when Forest Grove invaded the local floor to lose 27 to 23. The coach has cut the squad from the number first turning out and will concentrate on the rough spots from now on. The lineup Tuesday listed Cline as high scorer.

Keep Dates for Exams Craig Says

Failure of hundreds of Oregon veterans to keep appointments for scheduled physical examinations for disability rating purposes is jeopardizing their chances of receiving benefits to which they may be entitled, Thomas M. Craig, veterans administration representative in this area, warns.

Each month an estimated 20 percent of the 2500 veterans whose claims for disability compensation are being processed by the Oregon regional office fail to appear before physicians of the VA or the Oregon physicians' service or other designated doctors for their examinations. The VA cannot adjudicate veteran claims or take award action until medical reports have been completed, Craig explained.

Fifteen per cent of the veterans are failing either to reply by mail to examination notices or to appear in person before the physicians, Craig stated. Another five per cent have neglected to notify the VA of a change of address, so do not receive their

To speed up the work, the VA has authorized many private doctors to give rating examinations through Oregon physicians' service, which augments the VA's own medical facilities.

Craig urged veterans to observe their appointments promptly, or if they cannot meet their examination dates they should notify the VA and ask for later appointments.

Craig meets with veterans each Wednesday morning at the city hall in Vernonia.

District Lion Representative Plans Attendance

Preparations for the Lions club charter night here Monday, December 9 are nearing completion Frank D. Seelye, charter night chairman, said Wednesday. The affair has been arranged to begin at 7:30 with a turkey dinner to be served at the Masonic Temple by the Nehalem Social club.

Present for the evening will be Kenneth Wilcox, deputy district Lion governor, who will present the local club's charter. Acting as sponger for this club will be the Hillsboro Lions club of which Neal Bush is president.

Mr. Seelye, in outlining the Monday affair indicated that members attending the dinner must be accompanied by their wives or lady friends. At present the club membership exceeds 40 men and others who wish to be listed as charter members have but a few days to join before the charter is presented.

Ex-Vernonia Man Drowns

Thomas Bramblett, former resident of Vernonia, drowned last Saturday in the Umpqua river near Scottsburg. He complained feeling dizzy while running a trap line and tumbled into the river. His son, Richard, 9, was present and saw the drowning after which he ran to a government housing project nearby to obtain help but it was impossible to locate the father. He was wearing heavy clothing, boots and a pack sack,

After the search, the boy hiked 18 miles to Reedsport to tell his mother of the tragedy. Surviving are the widow, Jenny; a daughter, Betty, 12, and Richard. The Brambletts left here about

Tree Farm manager, announced it is done on week ends by high school boys. The first planting this winter was done Friday by 16 boys who were divided into 6 to 8-man crews. It is likely that the number of planters will increase later Mr. Hawkins said and it is also likely that more seedlings than those on hand will be received before the work is completed.

The work this year is scheduled for the Crooked creek area in sections 15 and 16, township 5 north, range 4 west. This area was logged in 1941 before the state conservation act became effective and as a result few seed trees were left standing and some of those were destroyed by subsequent fires.

COMMUNITY CHEST HEAD IS SOUGHT

ST. HELENS-Wanted, a chairman for the Columbia county community chest drive. The aunual campaign for funds has been virtually completed in most Oregon counties, but Columbia has not even started because it has been unable to find anyone who will head the drive.

Goal of the community chest in the county this year is a relatively modest one-about $6500which is in sharp contrast to last year's collection of $18,000. A good part of this money will toward financing Girl S-out and Boy Scout activities in the county during the year, while the remainder is largely diverted to charitable organizations which take care of juveniles.
