New 4-H Program Gets Emphasis

The 4-H club member in each Oregon county who develops the best livestock breeding program will receive a scholarship to the 1947 4-H club summer school at O.S.C., announces L. J. Allen, acting state club leader. The awards are sponsored by Safeway Stores. Winners will be selected by county committees on the basis of

The armed forces leave act of 1946 authorizes the veterans administration to accept "terminal leave" bonds for the payment of premiums on all forms of national service life insurance.

Napalm, the incendiary ingredient which roared out of wartime flame throwers as a jet of searing fire, is being converted by the army into a harmless all-purpose liquid soap.

project work, management of livestock projects, completeness and accuracy of record books, participation in club activities, and the qualifications of the candidate as revealed through an interview. These annual scholarship awards for livestock breeding projects represent an important addition to the program of club training,

Allen commented. Wartime emphasis was on market stock projects. The new awards for breeding stock projects will focus attention on the long-time benefits that these projects provide by encouraging the club member to start a herd that can be continued and developed in adult life. Baby beeves, fat lambs, and
