From the Office Desk . . .

In the April 17 edition of The Eagle there appeared a news story telling about the teaching career of Miss Lenore Kizer, who will retire this year from teaching work that she started in May, 1903 and who has spent 30 years in the Vernonia system.

A few days ago an interesting sidelight about those years of teaching was pointed out. One of Miss Kizer's pupils was Grace Condit, now Mrs. Walter Mathews, who later became a teacher in the Vernonia system. Time went on for a few years and Mrs. Mathews had as one of her pupils, James Johns.

He, in turn completed his schooling and became eligible to teach, taking a position in this system. When he began work at Washington, he was the third of three generation to instruct, a situation that does not often occur and one that will be changed when Miss Kizer completes her work at the end of the present school year.

What lure will interest a trout? That is a much debated question that a lot of fishermen would like answered and the reason we would like some authoritative information is this.

This writer purchased a fishing license just before trout season with the specific idea in mind of making a few catches, but so far the results, with one exception, have been the hooking of fingerlings four and five inches in length which had to be released. And that one exception wasn't anything about which to brag. It measured just over the legal length.

The merits of this or that kind of lure have been argued at great length by fishermen, many of which we have heard many times. Today, The Eagle's shop foreman came in with a neatly-packaged box of preserved grasshoppers and assured us they would surely be the cause of a nice catch on his next angling venture.

So far there have been no reports from him, favorable or otherwise about the grasshoppers, but if they do prove interesting to trout, we want to be the first to hear about it.

It would seem that all these arguments about what trout will strike have failed to take into consideration just one thing — the trout. Perhaps the fish did bite one lure one day and changed his mind the next. If anyone has the answer for the question of what lure is surefire, his information will be migthy welcome at The Eagle office.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Attention Ladies!

Cakes lined up—each with a number. Judges looking, breaking off pieces, tasting. The winner? Number 4—a cake with a wonderful, glossy chocolate frosting.

This was at the Women's Club last night. Then Duke Thomas stepped up—his cake was Number 4! Seems his missus was laid up, so Duke took over—and won!

Here's Duke's prize-winning frosting recipe:

Melt 3 squares unsweetened chocolate in double boiler. Remove from heat, add 1½ cups sifted confectioner's sugar and 2½ tbs. hot water and blend. Add 3 egg yolks, one at a time, beating well after each. Add 4 tbs. butter, beating thoroughly after each tbs. Fills and frosts 8-inch, 2-layer cake.

From where I sit, we all have different abilities and tastes... and these differences are sometimes surprising. Duke bakes prize-winning cakes. My wife, for example, can beat most any man at checkers. Same when it comes to beverages—you may like coffee or tea while I prefer a refreshing glass of beer. But let's not have any "half-baked" ideas that people are all the same—or should be.
