

Temple Installs New Manager

Vernonia Temple No. 61, Pythian Sisters, met October 8 for their regular meeting with MEC Edith McFarland presiding.

Mary Drips, who was recently elected manager to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Margaret Michener, was duly installed by installing officer, Rita Lamping, assisted by Edna Hoenan and Fern Kullander.

November 22 was announced as the date for the fall bazaar and food sale. Members were asked to complete articles and turn them in at the November 12 meeting.

November 12 will also be roll call night and the time for bringing canned foods and hand towels for the Oregon-Washington Pythian home at Vancouver, Washington.

After adjournment delicious refreshments were served by Edith McFarland and Alice Buckley.

Nowadays some people have to work so hard making a living that many of them fail to find time to live.

FOR COLUMBIA COUNTY
COMMISSIONER

NO. 33 ON THE BALLOT

every family is entitled to...

RICHER MILK...

LOWER PRICES

Vote 332 X YES

for a FAIR MILK LAW

The MILK PRODUCTION AND MARKETING ACT on your November ballot will give the people of Oregon a FAIR milk law—fair to consumers and producers alike. It will do away with state enforced milk prices, by which the present unjustified middleman's margin is protected by law. It will permit the lower pricing of cash-and-carry milk, relieving store customers from paying the higher costs of home delivery whether they use it or not. It will protect fair farm prices.

Don't be deceived by these LIES about the new milk bill

A reckless, unscrupulous minority of selfish interests is telling barefaced lies about milk. These interests are preying upon the fears of Oregon mothers for the health of their children.

Behind a misleading front of baby pictures they make a false emotional appeal. They hope this will keep you from forming judgments based upon the truth. We herewith quote some of these lies and accompany them with verified facts.

The lies are quoted directly from campaign literature of the minority group of milk interests leading the fight against the new milk bill.

LIE No. 1 "Baby's sanitary milk supply endangered."

This is a downright falsehood, as shown by the following statement by Dr. Thomas Meador, Portland city health officer: "Sanitary regulations for milk are set up by the state department of agriculture. Repeal of the present milk control law in favor of the proposed new law backed by the Affiliated Milk Committees of Oregon would have no effect whatsoever on the sanitary requirements set up by the state law. In addition to the state regulations on purity of milk, Portland has its own milk code, the operation of which would be affected in no way by repeal of the milk control law."

LIE No. 2 "The new substitute milk control initiative... could disrupt your steady milk supply" and "put Oregon's many small dairymen and distributors out of business."

Lie No. 2 is a complete reversal of the actual facts. While our population has increased by almost 60% our dairy farms have decreased by 19%, the number of dairy cows is down 23% and our milk production has decreased nearly 8%. Here are the figures from "Agricultural Statistics" issued by United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics:

NUMBER OF FARMS IN OREGON

All Farms	Dairy Farms
1930..... 51,958	8,150
1950..... 59,827	6,618

While the total of all farms increased 15% the number of dairy farms decreased 19%.

NUMBER OF DAIRY COWS IN OREGON

1934..... 263,000
1951..... 202,000

This is a decrease of 23% since 1934.

MILK PRODUCED IN OREGON (in pounds)

1934..... 1,323,000,000
1951..... 1,208,000,000

This is a decrease of over 7 1/2% since 1934.

POPULATION IN OREGON (Oregon Blue Book)

1930..... 953,786
1950..... 1,521,341

During the decline of the dairy industry in Oregon the population increased 59 1/2% over almost the same period.

How has Oregon made up this deficiency in its milk supply? The answer is largely in the fact that Portland gets the greater part of its milk from the neighboring State of Washington, which has no state controls that limit milk production.

The Oregon Producer-Distributors Association, composed of small dairymen who produce and distribute their own milk, has announced its support of the new milk bill with these words:

"Under Oregon milk control (in effect since 1934) the number of producer-distributors has shrunk from 600 to less than 100. Unless we organize we will find ourselves out of business."

In the face of these facts the noisy opponents of the new milk bill are claiming to be the friends of the small dairymen.

DON'T LET THESE LIES FOOL YOU. VOTE 332 X YES.
