Why not revive Arbor day? Regular observance of the day is provided for in an Oregon law of 1889 which sets aside the afternoon of the second Friday in February for western Oregon and the same day in April for the eastern part of the state.

In a tree-growing area such as this it would seem that observance of the day would be highly appropriate and should be given more attention. The old law was designed to assist in establishing trees on school grounds and implant in the minds of children the benefits of growing timber and the perpetuation of the state's valuable forests.

From the standpoint of farmers, fire protection has reached an effective position where risk from fire should no longer discourage landowners from starting timber farming enterprises. More than three-fourths of Oregon's forest land is under permanent, supervised management by technically trained men. This factor of protection is an added inducement to the planting of trees.

Trees for planting in forests and farm woodlots and for windbreaks can be obtained at a very low cost from the state forester. More than 13 different species are available including Douglas fir, Port Orford cedar, black locust, Chinese elm and ponderosa pine.

For this locality the observance of Arbor day has been very limited, with the exception of some effort that 4-H forestry clubs have devoted to the cause. Their work, of course, is commendable, but the purpose for which the day is set aside deserves more attention than the work of the few who belong to such clubs.

The response this week to the petitions being circulated by the IWA Local committee designated to carry the ball in the undertaking of making available an ambulance for the use of people in this part of the valley is meeting with considerable success. And so it should.

The need for an ambulance here could hardly be denied by

Comet Due Back

BY GEO. N. TAYLOR
Portland, Oregon

Haley's Comet swept through our sky in the summer of 1910 and is due back in 1986. God willed the creation of Haley's Comet and whatever else is. God willed it and Christ created and upholds it—Hebrews 1:1-3. When God would have us redeemed out of sin and made his new creation, Christ stripped off His glory and came to us as the Son of Man.

At the end, He gave himself up to die for our sins. Believe in Him as your own Lord and Saviour and His blood blots out every sin of your whole life. Then God gives the new nature that hates sin.

Being the Eternal Son, Christ arose from the grave and by that same power, He is to raise His own at the Resurrection of the Saved. Later, He is to raise the lost dead for judgement. So which for you? Saved and glory or Lost and Judgement? Which for you? This space paid for by a Seattle family.

even the most unthinking person so the undertaking deserves the success with which it is meeting.

The total of financial pledges made since the union meeting last Thursday through Tuesday of this week were in excess of $1000, a third of the estimated goal for purchasing the vehicle, equipping and insuring it. That response should be heartening to the men charged with the task of soliciting the pledges.

Likewise, those people who have not yet been asked for assistance should not, and probably will not hesitate when they are approached for a pledge. The ambulance is needed.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
Just a Little "Outdated"
Back in December we sent out our yearly calendar. It listed the last date for renewing drivers' licenses, and things like the dates for registering to vote, when the hunting and fishing seasons open — even suggested you note down the wife's birthday, too.
I figured dates like these were important to keep in mind—and this was a good way to do it. Unfortunately, it now turns out I never really paid close attention to my own calendar!
Not 'til today that is—so here I am not able to drive the car this weekend until I get my driver's license renewed on Monday!
From where I sit, I guess good advice, like charity, should begin at home. I'm always advising all of you to worry less about your neighbors (what they do, or say, and whether or not they should enjoy a temperate glass of beer) and pay more attention to whether you yourself are doing the right thing. Guess I'll "make a note" to follow my own formula!
