YESTERDAYS

FIVE YEARS AGO

From The Eagle, March 4, 1948
New water rates for residents of the city will go into effect with the next billing. An ordinance calling for the increase was adopted Monday by the city council calling for a monthly minimum of $2.00 as compared with the former minimum of $1.75.

Effective Monday morning of this week was the sale of a business that brings Mr. and Mrs. Norman Nieman, formerly of Michigan, to Vernonia as owners of the Cozy Confectionery. N. B. Johnson, former owner, has had the business for a little over a year.

J. W. Barney, city manager of Hillsboro, was engaged as guest speaker for the Lions club through arrangements made by Dr. H. E. Schlegel. The speaker has been asked to tell points for and against the manager form of city government.

TEN YEARS AGO

From The Eagle, March 4, 1943
School children in Vernonia are being given hearing tests by Miss Rebecca Overstreet of the division of maternal and child health, Oregon State Board of Health.

Local Victory gardeners may have the use of city lots without charge, it was decided at the city council meeting Monday. To use the lots, gardeners are asked to obtain permission from the city recorder. There are an estimated 25 spread over town.

Low places in the city park athletic field are being leveled with soil and sand and seeded with grass by high school boys during physical education periods. Orle Robbins and Glenn Ely are directing the work.

Dave Howard, who joined the army air corps three weeks ago, has been stationed at Denver, Colorado for basic training.

Aviation Cadet, Clifford Bergerson, has graduated from the Rankin flying school at Tulare, California and has been transferred to the Lemore flying school for his basic training.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

From The Eagle, March 4, 1938
Work on the proposed new Mile bridge to replace the present steel-wood span over the Nehalem river at Riverview is anticipated soon. A crew has been busy for two weeks setting stakes and surveying the new route of the highway and the new approaches.

Since the first of the year hunting and angling licenses have been sold at Hoffman hardware totaling $615. It is estimated the number of licenses total about 250.

R. A. Bramblett, with his catch of a 12-pound, 15 1/2-ounce steelhead, won the Hoffman Hardware steelhead derby for February.

Senior class students who will participate in this year's play are: Fred Erven, LaVerne Thompson, Ruby Condit, Sonny Schallock, Bill Thompson, Norman Crowder and Marjorie Lange.

Tree Planting Totals 2000

ROCK CREEK — Billy Krieger and Ronny Smith have been quite busy setting out 2,000 chittim trees for Ron McDonald.

There is quite a lot of sickness along the creek. Eola DeVaney was very miserable for a few days. The Martan family had mumps in their midst. Mrs. Harold Dimbat had a bout with bronchial pneumonia.

Fishing must be pretty good since all kinds of weather finds plenty of fishermen along Rock creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Bittner called at the Herb Counts home.

Mrs. Orris Evers of Elgin is visiting her daughter and family, the Ted DeWitts.

The Ralph DeVaney family of Portland came to see his mother, Eola DeVaney, and the Ben Westbergs and found that they had headed for Portland, hoping to find them at home.

May Krieger spent the day with Blanche DeWitt and later accompanied her to Mist to take some supplies to H. A. DeWitt.

Good Weather Causes Activity

BIRKENFELD — Several families took advantage of the beautiful weather and plowed their gardens and set out rose bushes, etc.

Lonn Jones of Albany, brother of Howard Jones, was visiting here Sunday.

The Sewing club met with Mrs. E. T. Johnston last Tuesday. Five members were present. Next meeting will be March 17 with Ilene Larson.

It is good to report most of our sick neighbors are on the road to recovery and very few new cases are being reported.

AVOIDING COLDS . . .

(Note: The article below is the first of several that are being planned to present information concerning the more common health problems which arise with daily living.)

By Dr. Frank G. Spaulding

If you are an average person, you have about three colds a year: one in October or November, one in early January and one in March or April. If you escape one of these popular seasons for colds, you may have one in midsummer just to make up your full quota.

A great deal of medical research has been done in an attempt to solve the mystery of the common cold. Even so, people seem to catch cold just about as commonly as always.

As you know, some colds are much more severe than others. The severity of a cold depends on two factors: the availability of the virus that starts a cold and the resistance to disease that the body offers. When the natural resistance is high the illness due to a cold will be slight. When natural resistance is low, the cold will be severe. In fact, when your resistance against germs is high, you will not have as many colds as when, through carelessness, you allow your resistance to decline.

The virus that starts a cold cannot gain a foothold in the linings of the nose and throat so long as these linings remain healthy and normal. The first step towards a cold, therefore, consists of a change in the membranes of the nose and throat that permits the mischievous virus to penetrate these membranes.

This preliminary insult to the membranes of the upper air passages may consist of a direct irritation of the membranes as from dust, acid fumes or sudden change in the temperature or moisture of the air. Strange as it may seem, a person's emotions may also have the effect of damaging the membranes of his nose and throat. The emotion of anger, for example, produces a definite congestion of these membranes, making them more susceptible to the virus that starts a cold.

Still another way that the delicate membranes of the air passages are insulted is by sudden chilling of some distant part of the body. The skin of the various parts of the body has reflex nervous connections that affect the membranes lining the nose and throat.

Once the membranes are damaged and the virus penetrates these delicate tissues, things begin to happen! First, there is interference with the blood supply to these membranes. Then the epithelial cells covering these membranes begin to break down.

Next, clear fluid escapes. About this time, the damage to the epithelial cells becomes so great that ordinary germs can enter the tissues, thus causing a real infection.

In trying to prevent colds it is logical for you to give serious attention to building up your resistance so that you will not be susceptible to colds. You can build it up by following these simple suggestions:

1. Provide a good diet. One authority has suggested that your daily diet should include one quart of milk; one green, leafy vegetable such as spinach or beet greens; one yellow-colored vegetable such as carrots and yellow turnips; one raw green vegetable such as cabbage or lettuce; one orange, grapefruit or tomato and one teaspoon of cod-liver oil. Also, if you have a tendency to anemia, it is good to eat one or two dried apricots a day and drink a glass of grape juice.
2. Take outdoor exercise.
3. Take plenty of rest each day.
4. Wear adequate clothing.
5. Avoid sitting or resting where there is a draft of cold.
6. Breathe through the nose.
7. Drink at least six glasses of water a day.
8. Maintain a calm, cheerful attitude.

It is too much to hope that you will never have another cold, but if you can reduce the number and their severity you will have accomplished much.
