Past Residents Stop at Mist

MIST — Visitors to the valley Sunday were some old timers most of the older people will remember well, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Johnson's father, Frank Haycox. Now all live in Portland. At one time over 40 years ago Frank Haycox owned a homestead next to the old Henry Ruddiman place up near the old Wheeler farm. Later he owned and operated a shingle mill on the Sandlin place. Then a few years later, a shingle mill was owned and operated by Frank Haycox and Joe Banzer up by the bridge to the burn. Later the family moved to Portland. They were on a trip around the loop and to inquire about cemetery lots of relatives and friends. The children, Mary, Raymond and Frank, all went to school here.

Frank Melis was a visitor from Longview last week at the A. R. Melis home.

It was a brass foundry Earl Doran is owner of in Seattle, our mistake. Sorry.

The Lester Closners have returned from their trip to Arizona where they went to attend the marriage of their daughter, Beverly, to Russel Stuve.

Strawberry picking is over now for the pickers that have been going to St. Helens.
