Demand for stock has increased recently and now stands at a high point according to Jack Alder, one of the owners of the Clatskanie Community Auction. ## Social Security

(Note: This, another of a series of articles on social security, tells which circumstances will cause cancellation of benefit payments. The article comes from the Portland social security office.)

When you become entitled to monthly old-age or survivors insurance payments, you will receive a check each month unless certain events occur. The law gives some events that will suspend the payment of monthly checks for one or more months. It also specifies other events that end your right to receive payments. These events are given below and you must report them promptly to the social security administration if any of them happens in your cases when you are drawing monthly benefits.

First, if you are not yet 75 years of age and you are receiving monthly payments either as retirement, as a dependent, or as a survivor, the benefit is not payable for any month in which you earn more than $75 in a job covered by the law. Monthly benefits to members of your family are not payable for any month in which your old-age benefit check is not payable.

After you become entitled to monthly payments, you must notify the social security administration if your wages are more than $75 per month for such employment. One notification only is necessary and your benefit will be suspended until you advise that you are no longer working in this manner.

Certain types of work are not covered by social security and you would not have to report such earnings. If you are doubtful about this, be sure to discuss it with your social security office. If you are under 75 and render substantial services as a self-employed person as an owner or partner in a trade or business covered by the law and your net earnings average more than $75 a month during the taxable year, benefits are not payable for one or more months in that year.

Self-employment earnings of $900 or less for the taxable year will not affect your payments. For each additional $75 or part of $75, one month's benefits may not be payable. Generally, you perform substantial services when you actively engage in the operation of your trade or business. If you are drawing social security benefits and you become self-employed, you should discuss your situation with the social security administration because individual circumstances differ.

If you are under 65 and are receiving monthly benefits as the wife or widow of an insured person, the payment may be made only while you have in your care a child who is also entitled to monthly benefits. When any person receiving monthly payments as a dependent or as a survivor marries, the payments are ended. Wife's benefits end in case there is a divorce.

A child's survivor benefit ends in the month before he or she reaches age 18. If the child marries before reaching age 18, his benefit stops. If a child is adopted by someone besides certain relatives, his payment will end, of course, in the case of any beneficiary who dies, monthly benefits are ended. All of these events must be reported to the social security administration promptly in order to avoid difficulty and possible penalties.

Those who wish to file claims or obtain social security information may meet the Representative during one of his regular weekly Columbia county visits. Mr. Cummins may be contacted on the second floor of the St. Helens Courthouse, any Monday, 1:00 to 3:00 p.m., or local residents may wish to visit or write the Portland office located in Room 104, Old Post Office Building, Portland, Oregon.
