

AROUND HOME...

By Helen Sellie
Home Extension Agent

Schedule for the Coming Week

The Chapman home extension unit will meet at the home of Mrs. W. Kammeyer at 10:30 on Wednesday, February 3. Project leaders, Mrs. John Svoboda and Mrs. Kammeyer, will present the demonstration on Making Belts and Buttons.

Mrs. R. E. Nelson and Mrs. H. D. Sandstrom will demonstrate "Salads and Salad Dressings" when the Columbia City unit meets at Mrs. Nelson's home on Wednesday, February 3 at 10 a.m. All women interested in attending either one of these two unit meetings are welcome.

The annual meeting of the Farm Home and Rural Life committee will be held at the city hall in St. Helens on Wednesday, February 3, beginning at 10:30 a.m. Mrs. Mabel Mack, assistant director of the extension service, will be present.

The preliminary meeting for the better dress workshop will be held at the Rainier high school auditorium on Friday, February 5. This meeting will begin at 10:30 in the morning and will continue until 3:00 in the afternoon.

YESTERDAYS

FIVE YEARS AGO

From The Eagle, Jan. 27, 1949

Action in line with that being carried out on a national scale was taken here early last week by the Vernonia PTA when the group again talked of the campaign against objectionable comics, movies and radio programs and took steps to carry on the drive locally.

Work at the Oregon-American mill was called off indefinitely after the start made Monday because of the extreme cold which prevented operation of some mill machinery and because of ice on the pond.

A new record was established for Vernonia early this week as far as minimum temperature readings, according to Mrs. D. P. Spofford, cooperative weather observer, who operates the weather recording apparatus here. The official maximum and minimum readings for every day since last Wednesday are:

	Max.	Min.
January 19	34	22
January 20	36	8
January 21	39	18
January 22	34	15
January 23	36	-2
January 24	30	-5
January 25	35	-3

TEN YEARS AGO

From The Eagle, Jan. 27, 1944

An operating permit by which the Oregon-American Lumber corporation will transport employees from their homes to the mill in Vernonia was granted on less than statutory notice by Public Utilities Commissioner George H. Flagg.

Thirteen Vernonia women motored to Hillsboro Friday, January 24, and gave a pint of their blood at the Red Cross donating center.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Peasnell of Portland have purchased the Emmons' hatchery and feed store and took possession last Sunday after transactions had been made several weeks ago.

The civilian defense police were given service buttons this week by Marshal A. D. Lolley.

Before a capacity crowd of wildly excited Logger rooters the veteran St. Helens Lions took the measure of the local squad by a score of 36-21.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

From The Eagle, Jan. 27, 1939

A report issued by Mrs. Wallace McCrae, local Christmas Seal sale chairman, this week revealed Vernonia as making the largest contribution of any community in the county. The amount from here was $220.06 and the figure last year was $172.

The first snowfall of any amount so far this winter came early last Sunday morning. The temperature rose later in the morning and the fall completely melted.

Terminating five and a half years service to the community, it became known this week that Doctor H. M. Bigelow, Vernonia dentist, was to change his residence to Portland where he will occupy a position with the Veterans hospital.

Life will be a lot happier for you if you use the advice you have been giving your friends.

noon.

Those attending are asked to bring along a sack lunch for the noon hour.

Attendance at this meeting is a requirement for those wishing to enroll in the better dress workshop.

Need any help in building or remodeling your home? If so, let us know at once and there is a strong possibility that we can plan for a visit at your home with John Campbell, OSC housing specialist, to discuss any construction problems you might be having.

In building a new home, John recommends that an adequate foundation and structural members of ample strength are an important consideration. Often times the concrete footings that support the center section of the house are undersize and therefore overloaded. The average pier beneath the house should be from 2 feet to 2 feet 6 inches square and 8 inches deep. Two inch by 8 inch floor joists are adequate up to 14 or 15 feet. A greater span requires 2 by 10's.

There are many reasons for wanting to remodel a home. Although at one time it might have been very satisfactory for you or your parents or even grand-parents, it might now seem too large or too small for your present family. Probably it was not well-planned to begin with and now finally you feel that you want to invest in changes that would make it both more attractive as well as more livable and convenient for you.

Even before any planning is begun, important questions must be answered. It will not pay, of course, to make over any house that is not sound. Carrying out a thorough remodeling job generally takes less material but more labor than new construction. Usually it is cheaper to build a new house than to completely rebuild an old one.

What will needed repairs cost? Look the house over carefully. Check it over from foundation to roof. The foundation may need repairs or joists may need replacing. If the chimney is in bad condition, it may have to be rebuilt. Holes in the flashings—the metal where sloping roofs join, around chimneys, or other places where a watertight seal is needed—may cause leaks. New shingles or other roofing may be needed. Check also the condition of siding, window and door frames and downspouts to see whether they need to be replaced.

Is the building in a good location? The site may be poorly drained. Can this fault be corrected? What will it cost? The house should be on ground high enough not to be under water during heavy rains. The water table should not be so high as to make sewage disposal difficult. Exposure to the full sweep of winter winds may make the house hard to heat. Easy access to the highway is also something to think about.

Is there a safe and plentiful water supply? Have the water tested. Figure needs on the basis of at least 50 gallons a day for each person. Remember also the needs for watering livestock. Milk cows will each need an average of 20 gallons a day and sheep or hogs, two gallons each.

Will remodeling be a good investment? That is the question all these other questions lead up to. The answer is important in your planning.

Certainly, as you think about these things, you will find that remodeling calls for as much thought and as careful planning as new building. Avoid especially putting costly utilities in a house that first of all needs rebuilding or rearrangement.
