Washington conducted an intensive law enforcement campaign during the latter part of the year to accomplish the same goal. Both states succeeded but this state succeeded to the extent it led the nation in death reduction.
 Of other western states, California had a four per cent decrease, Idaho a nine per cent reduction and Utah a 15 per cent drop, the latter state being second to this state.

From the secretary of state's office, figures were available on Monday to show deaths by counties in the state and only one, Sherman, completed the year without a death from traffic. Columbia county was next to low with one and Multnomah was high with 80 of which 55 took place inside Portland.

The proposed new budget for the 1954-55 fiscal year of operation of school district 47 Jt. should please the residents of the district because the proposal calls for a tax levy that is nearly $6000 less than the amount taxpayers were asked to provide for the current year of operation. Although this amount is not a large figure, it is a step in the right direction this column believes.

There are two reasons to make the reduction possible. One is a small decrease in the proposed amount of expenditures and the other is an increase in the estimated receipts from sources other than direct taxes.

The year 1954 will no doubt be one well worth remembering as far as county residents are concerned because it will be the year for observance of the 100th birthday of the division of Washington county which resulted in Columbia being formed. The story of that 100-year-old division is of interest, coming from data compiled by the Columbia County Historical society.

The Oregon country was originally that area which included all of the Pacific Coast from the Spanish territory, now California and Nevada, north to 54 degrees 40 minutes N. latitude, considerably beyond the present northern boundary of the United States.

All of this was divided into four counties or districts—Tuality, Yamhill, Clackamas and Champoeg. They extended east to the Rocky mountains.

As the land was settled, it was subdivided with Columbia being taken from the Tuality district, which in 1849, residents of the present Columbia county went to Hillsborough to pay their taxes. The spelling has since been simplified to its present use.
