HERE'S HOW...

MAKE A FLOAT FOR SWIMMING

A sturdy float is made of lumber 2 inches thick.

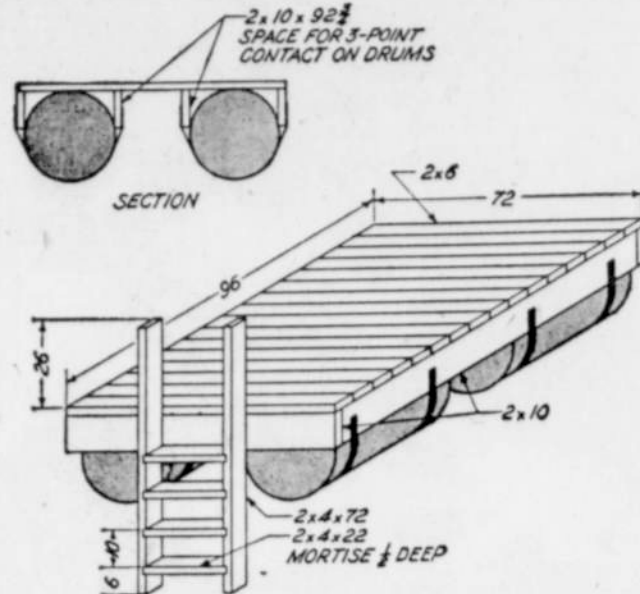

First make a frame, as shown, fastening it securely with 8-inch galvanized spikes. Space the floor boards 1/4 inch apart and fasten with 60-penny galvanized nails.

Two inside stringers are placed to fit against the drums and are spiked in place. Fasten the ladder to the float with four 1/2 by 6-inch carriage bolts (with washers beneath both heads and nuts) spaced 2 inches from the top and bottom of the frame.

Fasten the drums in place with 1/4 by 2-inch steel straps, fitting snugly against the rings on the oil barrels to prevent slipping. Use 3/4 by 1 1/2-inch lag screws to hold the straps.

Add galvanized tie-rings to each corner to complete the float.
