

What Healed The Boy?

GEORGE N. TAYLOR
Portland, Oregon

"Come heal my son or he will die. So the nobleman said to Jesus. At that Jesus answered the man—"Except you see signs and wonders you will not believe." So it was that Jesus must go to the boy and do some miracle or the man would not believe. But the man came back with—"Come at once or my boy will die." Jesus saw faith in the man and said—"Go your way; your son lives." So the man went and he found that the fever left the boy at the very time Jesus said that he was well. At that the nobleman and his whole household believed. John 4:46-53. But Jesus must yet take their every last sin and die for them.

You also have eternal life when you receive Christ into your heart as the Son of God who died for your every last sin. From then on God builds you up in his word, the Bible.

Date Set for 'Martin Luther'

A film presentation of a decisive moment in history which changed the beliefs and lives of untold millions should be done with the utmost fidelity and the finest craftsmanship to prove itself worthy of its subject.

Judged on this basis, "Martin Luther" is a superb film triumph. Here in dramatic fashion is told the life and works of Martin Luther, the German priest whose questioning mind & spirit caused a religious upheaval in 16th century Germany that spread throughout the world and that has never been resolved. To separately analyze the ingredients which make this a great motion picture would be misleading, since they blend into an exciting whole. Truly a picture worthy of everyone's patronage, it will be shown October 22 at 7:30 at the Washington grade school. The film is sponsored by the Vernonia Ministerial association.
