HERE'S HOW... MAKE BUILT-IN SHELVES AND CABINETS

A den or dining room can be made more attractive and more functional with built-in shelves and cabinets.

Overall dimensions will depend upon the space to be utilized. Before starting this project, the home craftsman should draw plans with specific dimensions, and then check with his local lumber dealer as to the grades and sizes of lumber.

Use 1-inch finished lumber except for the pigeon-hole shelves which are of 1/2-inch lumber. First, panel the back wall, or paint the plaster to harmonize with the wood finish.

Place the counter top 36 inches, and the desk top 30 inches above the floor. Make the lower cabinet about 26 inches deep. Attach strips to the wall studs for support for the shelves and framing of the lower cabinet.

Counter and desk top and the broad panels are made by edge-gluing, using dowel joints. If the cabinet doors are edge-glued, place battens on the inside for reinforcement.

The shelves are of 1 by 10-inch lumber. If the cabinet is built around a window, the glass-front center section may be omitted.

Round all exposed edges before finishing.

REPAIR AND REFINISH OUTDOOR FURNITURE

Prepare for a summer out of doors by repairing or refinishing broken or worn furniture.

Wooden furniture will require different treatment from rattan or wicker furniture. Replace broken pieces with new lumber, using the piece to be replaced as a pattern for the new one. Furniture broken or worn beyond repair can be completely rebuilt from new lumber with the disassembled pieces serving as patterns for the new ones. Several duplicates of an old favorite piece can be made easily in this manner.

Old furniture to be refinished should first be cleaned with water and detergent. Let dry thoroughly. Brush worn or chipped spots with a wire brush, sand smooth and feather the edges. Fill cracks or holes with wood putty and sand smooth when dry. Touch up all such spots with enamel undercoater.

Apply red lead. Remove any wax with wax remover. Use a paint or varnish remover if it is desired to remove all the old finish.

Sand the entire surface and apply an enamel undercoater.

WOODEN FURNITURE
Use enamel undercoat, crack filler, then exterior enamel

Flow on the enamel and avoid letting it collect on the edges. Remove all dust before applying any portion of the finish.

Spar varnish is frequently all that is needed to refinish rattan furniture. If enamel is preferred, apply it as on wood. Spraying is preferable on wicker furniture. Prevent accumulations of the finish at the wicker intersections.

WICKER FURNITURE
Apply spar varnish or exterior enamel

RATTAN FURNITURE

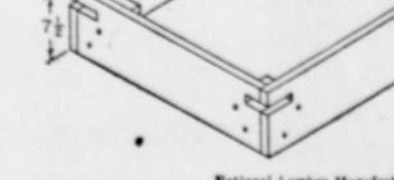

MAKE A BASE FOR THE AUTOMATIC DRYER

Avoid back bending by making a base to elevate the automatic clothes dryer to a convenient working height.

Determine the outside dimensions of the dryer and make the base to fit snugly around the dryer. The sides are 1 by 8-inch boards. From each, saw out 3 by 3/4-inch slots, as shown in the detail drawing. The slots make the leveling screws accessible.

The leg supports are 4 by 4-inch posts. Use waterproof wood glue and sixteen 2-inch No. 14 flat-head wood screws to assemble the sides to the posts. Use four 6-penny finishing nails to join the top corners of the boards.

Screws should be either countersunk or counterbored. Fill the holes with wood putty, sand when the putty is dry, round exposed edges and corners and finish to match or to blend with the surroundings.
