

Radio Fix-it 4-H Club Studies New Radio Code

The Radio Fix-it 4-H club met at the West Oregon Electric office March 7. Six members were present, namely, Owen Enevold, sen, Greg Kamholz, David Linn, Lee Harman, Donald Robertson and Jack Holsey. Wallace Pollock, seventh member of the club, was absent.

The project for the evening was studying the radio code which was started last year. Previously in this years work, they have learned radio construction and principles of radio reception.

The club will meet again this evening.

Busy Bees 4-H Club Learns Table Setting

The Busy Bees 4-H club met March 5 at the home of their leader, Mrs. Dave Brunsmann. They learned how to set a table properly after which their leader served butterscotch cookies and grape kool-aid.

Sunday School Decision, Day. Best use a small black board. On the right, chalk in a cross. Tell them that Christ was nailed here. Write Sin above the cross-arm and Death below. Over at the left top, print Eternal Life. Now th decisions. Bid the scholars come up and write their initials. Thus they accept Christ's death as blotting out their own sins and eternal death. Often uses 20 minutes. Practice it first — "I was not yet in my teens when I signed in our Sunday School. Now I am going back to Africa on my 2nd term." So a missionary told it. Mark 11 says—Believe; be saved. This Message sponsored.

Twelve Busy Hands Club Plans Dinner for Mothers

The Twelve Busy Hands met Monday at Mrs. U. Sozoff's house. They started off with Laura Floeter showing pictures of her trip in the summer. Then four of the girls did yells after which they had refreshments. Cookies were furnished by Mrs. Sozoff and Kristi Wallace. Then the girls were taught to set the table.

The next meeting will be on Monday, March 25. This will be a dinner to which the girls mothers are invited.

FASHION

Custom, education, and fashion form the transient standards of mortals.

—Mary Baker Eddy
Fashion is a word which knaves and fools may use to excuse their knavery and folly.

—Churchill
Every generation laughs at the old fashion, but follows religiously the new.

—Thoreau
The way of the world is to make laws, but follow customs.

—Montaigne
Be not so bigoted to any custom as to worship it at the expense of truth.

—Zimmerman
Fashion is something barbarous, for it produces innovation without reason and imitation without benefit.

USDA Head To Speak at Salem

Ralph Hodgson, head of the dairy husbandry research branch of the U.S.D.A., Washington, D.C. will be featured speaker at a special dairy meeting in Salem, Tuesday, March 19, starting at 1:00 p.m. at the Mayflower hall, announces County Agent Don Coin Walrod.

Dr. Hodgson is also scheduled to talk to the Tillamook county D.H.I.A., on Monday, March 18. Before coming to Oregon, Hodgson will be speaking at the Utah Dairyman's association and the Washington Dairy Institute.

In his talks, Dr. Hodgson will discuss "Problems in Production and the Use of Milk" and also "The Production and Utilization of Forages." He will answer questions on dairy research work being done in the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Hodgson was at the Western Washington experiment station in Puyallup in the 1930's. His wide experience in national and world dairy circles resulted in his heading an 18-man U.S. delegation of dairy people to Rome, Italy in 1956. Honors bestowed upon him include the Borden award of $1000.00 for dairy research work and the superior service award of the U.S.D.A.

All dairymen and friends are invited to hear Dr. Hodgson at either of these two meetings, says Walrod.

Boron Is Needed For Legume Crop

Just a little boron goes a long way in legume fields, but that small amount is mighty important, says county extension agent, Don Coin Walrod.

All 1956 soil tests for boron from Columbia county have shown that alfalfa and red clover fields have responded particularly well to boron, but other legumes also need this minor element as a plant food.

Oregon State college extension soil specialist, Dr. Tom Jackson suggests that one and one-half pounds of actual boron or fifteen pounds of agricultural grade boron be used annually on perennial legumes. Three pounds of actual boron can be used on new seedlings, but should not be repeated the following year.

An easy method of applying boron is to use borated gypsum, says Walrod, or borated phosphate may be used if the phosphorus is also needed.

Certain precautions are important in connection with boron applications, since boron in heavy quantities is a soil sterilant and excessive applications may reduce the yields of many crops. Beans in particular are sensitive to boron and boron should be avoided if beans are to follow.

Witnesses Plan Lebanon Meeting

The Forest Grove congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses are making preliminary arrangements to attend a semi-annual conference which is being held in Lebanon, Oregon, March 22-24.

In making the announcement, Mr. Harold L. McFarlan, a spokesman for the group, said that a similar assembly had been held in Tillamook last September, when 1100 from 18 valley towns were in attendance.

The Watchtower Society of Brooklyn, New York is the directive agency for the group and provides regular training in their christian activity.

The object of the three day program at Lebanon is to equip every one of Jehovah's Witnesses in the practical use of the Bible.

The highlight of the assembly will be a public lecture entitled, "Removing the Barrier Dividing Mankind." This is to be delivered by W. D. Couch, a traveling minister.

A peak attendance of 1200 is expected.
