

Money Order Warning Given

Merchants and the general public should be warned that cashing a post office money order for a stranger is every bit as risky as cashing that person's personal check.

Literally thousands of money orders are stolen from post offices each year, and often the rubber stamp equipment to make them look authentic is either stolen at the same time, or duplicated illegally.

A recent theft of several hundred of the new style print punch money order forms and the issuing machine which prints the amount and punches in the value was taken at the same time from the Huntsville, Utah post office. Some of these were reported cashed.

Too many people believe that a money order is good, because they are issued by the post office.

Plan every move—and keep your thinking a day ahead of your work.

Local Witnesses Go to Longview

A delegation of some 20 Jehovah's Witnesses of Vernonia congregation will attend the two-state three-day "Courageous Ministers district assembly" slated to start Friday, August 3 in Longview, Washington.

Heading the local group will be La Moine Todd, presiding minister, who said that upwards of 6000 delegates from 100 congregations will receive advanced ministerial instruction from regional and national representatives of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society, convention sponsor.

The convention program will include talks, staged dramatizations, group discussions and demonstrations all designed to impart advanced instruction in Bible teaching methods.

Climaxing the Longview assembly will be the free public talk on Sunday, August 5, at 3 p.m. Vernon C. Wisegarver, New York minister and direct representative of the world headquarters of Jehovah's Witnesses, will speak on "Take Courage—God's Kingdom Is at Hand."

Doctor: Have your eyes ever been checked?
Little girl: No sir, they've always been brown!
